Was the Parade in Honor of St. John's Day

Beautiful Floats and Brilliant Regalia Features of the Parade—Over 3000 in Line — The Appearance of So Many Children in Line Made a Great Hit — Elaborate Decorations Along the Route

"Let us be good American citizens, but let us remain always faithful to our faith, our customs and our language."

Such is the excellent rule laid down for the French people of Lowell by their beloved pastor Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., and the grand celebration today in honor of the feast of St. Jean Baptiste, the patronal feast day of the French Catholics is strikingly in accordance with it.

A more beautiful day for an out-door celebration could not be desired and a more beautiful celebration withal has never been witnessed in this city and will long be recalled with keen delight not only by the hundreds who participated in it but by the many thousands who had the pleasure of witnessing it and viewing the lavish and extensive decorations which were to be found in every quarter of the city not alone on the business buildings but on clubs and private residences from the picturesque decorative designs on the mansions of the wealthy to the display of the national colors and the tri-color on the habitations of the poor.

French-Americans from all over New England came to this city to see the celebration and the early trains and electric cars coming to Lowell were packed with visitors. The streets in the vicinity of St. Jean Baptiste church were choked with people long before the hour of starting the parade, while all streets along the line of march were lined with spectators throughout the morning. The Lawrence company closed its doors for the day in honor of the celebration and the others might as well have done so for those who went in to work came out when the hour for the parade arrived.

As early as 6.30 o'clock the merry sound of the drum and the babel of voices along the street, coupled with the clatter of horses' hoofs betokened the elaborateness of what was to follow and the parade when under way was all that was expected of it and even more. Originality of ideas in making the features prevailed throughout and the St. Jean's day parades of 1881 and 1891 were but small affairs compared with the imposing pageant of today. Though one of the largest parades ever seen in Lowell and passing over the longest route of march in history, nevertheless not one company dropped out and the marching bodies looked as well as they entered the Fair grounds after their long walk as they did when with colors gaily waving in the soft breeze and bands playing merrily they left the common on their march at 8.40 o'clock. The formation and route of parade will be found in another column.

THE CHIEF MARSHAL.

Mr. Louis P. Turcotte, chief marshal of the parade, was the cynosure of all eyes and he was the recipient of the congratulating plaudits of the multitude along the line of march. Mr. Turcotte recently met with an accident, breaking his leg and only yesterday left the hospital with a plaster cast on the injured member. But he promised to be in line and he was there in a barouche at the head. Chief of Staff Albert Blazon came in for a great share of applause for during the incapacity of the chief marshal a great share of the work came on his shoulders and the admirable manner in which he carried out his duties was evidenced by the grand success of the parade. Considering the fact that there must have been over 3000 people in line the parade moved along without delay and arrived at the Fair Grounds before noon.

Along the line the enthusiasm shown has never been equalled in a local parade. At the gaily decorated houses every point of vantage was taken by spectators and the cheers and plaudits resounded in one continuous chorus. The parade was seen to the best advantage in passing St. Jean Baptiste's church. Here the clergymen not in the parade reviewed it while on the great stairway leading to the edifice was stationed a chorus of 100 little girls all clad in white who sang hymns as the parade passed. The beautiful triumphal arch at the corner of Moody and Aiken street presented a most charming appearance and the marching best was at its best in passing under it. There were no casualties among the paraders which is remarkable considering the great number of horses unused to the excitement, in line. An amusing and fortunately not serious mishap occurred while the float representing the foundation of St. Joseph's parish was passing the C. M. A. C. club house in Pawtucket street. The float had halted temporarily and Mr. Joseph Cantin, who made a fine representation of the lamented Fr. Garin was acting his part most commendably when suddenly the horses started up and the chair upon which he was seated toppled overthrowing him backwards. For a moment it was thought he would fall into the street but he caught the side of the wagon and saved himself and arose from his undignified position with rolling face.

The parade was reviewed by a large delegation of members of the city council as it passed city hall and the chief marshal's review took place at Davis Square.

Along the line all agreed that the parade was one of the best ever seen in Lowell and enthusiasm ran high as the more picturesque of the floats passed by. A prouder man could not be found than Mr. Amedee Archambault, the well known undertaker who personally drove the float in which his little son represented the child St. John Baptiste with the lamb. The float in Music had St. Cecelia and the harp as the crowning feature of the design. The United States with 11 of the prettiest French young women in Lowell on it was applauded universally.

The Canadian Carillon, the new banner of Canada, attracted much attention as to most people it was entirely new. It consists of a white cross with a red sacred heart in the centre on a back-ground of light blue with four large white fleur-de-lis at each corner. The flags carried by the different societies were particularly worthy of note for many of them were beautiful silk emblems, comparatively new. The Union St. Joseph had two handsome flags, one Old Glory and the other Le tri-color.

The parade was almost but not exclusively French. One society was headed by the Fifth Regiment drum corps. Irish Volunteers of this city and this particular corps was one of the musical features of the parade. They played stirring French and Irish airs while their lone drummer armed with two drum sticks did a club swinging stunt along the line of march. That made a big hit.

Immediately upon the arrival of the parade at the Fair Grounds the mass in the open was sung, an account of which appears in another column.

THE NAPOLEON GUARD.

One of the most striking features of the parade was the Napoleon Guard consisting of 50 cavaliers representing the historic grenadiers of 1804, the pets of Napoleon Grande Armee. Riding at the head of the cavalcade and presenting a striking appearance was Joseph Rosso representing Napoleon. He was attired in the Napoleonic tri-corn, a uniform of white with long black top boots and a dark green redingote. Preceding him were two color bearers and the bugler and immediately following him his staff consisting of Adolphe Lamontagne, Albert Rodier, Omer Bernard and Arthur Bernard. The grenadiers were the tri-corn, white trousers, dark blue coats with red and white trimmings, and long black leggings. The men came as follows:

Captain, Octave Lamontagne; first lieutenant, Joseph L. Brunelle; second lieutenant, Chris Morin; sergeants, Arthur Ducharme; Romuald Trudeau; corporals, Frank Ducharme, A. Bleard, Arthur Brunelle; Henry Arsenault, Zephir Rousseau, Jean Guilmette, Amedee Gelinas, Hermidas Heroux, Francis Regnier, Joseph Chateauneuf, Louis Poissant, L. Goulon, Pierre Lebrun, Angelo Tousignant, George Denis, Pamphile Falardeau, Philippe Desmarteaux, Frank Dufault, Dan Paquette, Frank Kennon, Wilfrid Savard, Paul Bissonnet, G. M. Bourgeois, Amedee Chateauneuf, Jean Leonard, A. Brunault, Wilfrid Lefebvre, Donat Rousseau, Adelard Mirault, Hermidas Chouinard, Michel Montgrenier, Wilfrid Boisseneault, Henri Hamelin, A. Desmero, J. Rivard, E. Barette, Louis Mercier, Henri Lefebvre, L. Milette, H. Poissant, Joseph Coutu, D. Tousignant, Narcisse Lemieux, C. Picard, G. St. Onge, Arthur Bennett, Joseph Roy, Adelard Desrosiers, D. Masson, M. Lebelle, Amedee Gelinas, M. Perusse, J. Pepin, M. Pigeon, Jos. Roy, A. Rousseau, F. Malo, Abraham Roberge, Wilfrid Gagnon; Arthur Brunelle, bugler; George Rivard, A. Chouinard, color bearers.

THE FLOATS.

A most charming feature of the parade were the floats, most of which were of a historical nature. The great generals and discoverers were represented and some of them were remarkably true to the original.

ST. JOSEPH'S PARISH.

The first float in line represented the foundation of St. Joseph's parish in 1868. Joseph Cantin represented Father Garin, and grouped with him were H. A. Racicot, who was the first choirmaster of the church, Noe Lussier, Edouard Courchesne, Onesime Roberge, Samuel Renaud, Sr., and Luke Veo, some of the oldest French citizens.

This float was turned out by St. Andre's branch of the Artisans.

LA MUSIQUE.

Perhaps the most beautiful float of all was that of Carillon council, representing music. Thirty-one young women seated on the float itself, represented musicians playing various instruments, while 20 young men marched by the side of the float, clothed in white Roman togas and bearing white banners with a musical note and its name on each of them. These were united to the tower by floral streamers. Thomas J. Goyette, the painter, is the originator and designer of the superb scheme.

La Musique won great applause along the route and was deserving of it all as an original creation wholly unique.

The young women figuring in this float are Misses Leda Nichols, who as the central figure represented the Muse of Music; Anna Bourassa, Marie Lavallee, Albina, Caroline and Ernestine Alexander, Anna Laporte, Josephine Laporte, Blanche Sicard, Alda Emery and Exilda Nichols, Emerentienne Delisle, Anna Carrier, Eva Rose, Leora Lavallee, Corinne Alexander, Antoinette Alexander, Rose Tellier, Corinne Bourk, Blanche Alexander, Anna Nadeau, Alice, Irene, Yvonne and Grace Alexander, Bertha Sicard, Ludivine Sicard, Eugenie Bourk, Irene Duval, B. Alexander.

The young men who marched by the float were Thomas J. Goyette, Arthur Levedlie of Lawrence, Ferdinand Frechette, Rosaire Plean, Edd Jette, Henry Alexander, L. P. Leblanc, Jos. Fournier, M. Marchand, J. McKinnon, Alphonse Marcotte, M. Laberge, G. Belgeron, J. Leforge, Labelle, Lamothe.

SAINT JEAN BAPTISTE.

Vying for beauty and originality of design is the float representing the child St. Jean Baptiste.

Master Dewey Archambeault impersonated the child St. John, bearing the shepherd's staff, clothed with a buffalo robe over his shoulders and with, of course, the traditional, beautiful, white lamb. This float was one of the most charming in the parade.

THE UNITED STATES.

The 46 states in the Union, represented by 46 attractive girls, robed in white robes, spangled with gilt stars, was an impressive sight. Young, the decorator, made this float one of the best-decorated in the line. Messrs. Homer L. P. Turcotte and Henri Achin, Jr., organized this magnificent display, in which appeared the following young women:

Misses Moza Jodoin, Minnesota; Lea Achin, New Jersey; Ida Matte, Idaho; Eva Matte, North Dakota; Amanda Goudreau, Montana; Mederise Goudreau, Wisconsin; Bernadette Germain, California; Mary Carpentier, Rhode Island; Clara Nadeau, Massachusetts; Corinne Descheneaux, Maryland; Florida Rousseau, Oregon; Chattie Peltier, Illinois; Annie Peltier, Tennessee; Della Suprenant, New York; Annie Suprenant, Michigan, Eva Suprenant, Connecticut; Gertrude Loranger, New Hampshire; Eva Dumont, Pennsylvania; Jennie Chouinard, Indiana; Marguerite Turgeon, Alabama; Marie Louise Menard, Florida; Corinne Carron, Ohio; Alma Vigneault, Delaware; Cecile Roy, South Dakota; Rosanna Thifault, Texas; Anna Boulat, Colorado; Josephine Boulat, Missouri; Adeline Turgeon, Nebraska; Blanche Germain, Mississippi; Gabrielle Turcotte, Virginia; Bernadette Fontaine, Washington; Flora Rotin, Wyoming; Fleur Ange Gignac, Arkansas; Laura Morrison, Maine; Tillie Morrison, West Virginia; Bellne Rotin, Georgia; Julia Dunjou, North Carolina; Elsie Therrien, Kentucky; Rebecca Lacouture, South Carolina; Laura Roy, Vermont; Exilla Durand, Louisiana; Blanche Levesque, Kansas; Maximilienne Levesque, Nevada; Emma Thifault, Iowa.

THE FRENCH FLAG.

The young ladies of Centralville had a most attractive feature in a float representing the French flag. There were 36 young women decked out in the national colors, 12 in red at the top of the car, 12 in white below, and 12 in blue at the lower end, thus representing a French flag. Hats and gowns both matched and all waved flags.

The young ladies in the float were: Red—Misses Bella Brousseau, Eliza Hebert, Marie Collins, Eva Lequin,

Mr. Man

That buys the coal, did it ever occur to you, that to be a successful coalman, in the full sense of the word, you must have practical experience? Let us understand one another. The money that started me in the coal business I earned myself screening, shoveling, and teaming coal right here in your own city; today my trade yards and facilities for handling coal are second to none in this city. I know what coal is, and what coal is not; I know what to buy, and what not to buy; that means my customers do not have to suffer for my mistakes. I do not tell my men, go and do it; I say, come and do it; that means you hire your own foreman in place of the coal-dealer hiring him for you. When you are about to place your coal orders, think this matter over.

LABOR MEN ARE HOT

After Chairman of the Park Commission

They are Held to Letter of Law While Park Board Violates It as Laid Down by Former City Solicitor—Injunction Possible

It is reported that certain representatives of the labor unions are quite indignant at the unceremonious manner in which they were turned down by the chairman of the park commission on petitioning that body for certain privileges on the South common for the celebration of Labor day.

The chairman distinctly told the labor men that they would receive no exclusive privileges on the common and that they had no right to ask any. A few years ago it was the custom for the city to appropriate five hundred or a thousand dollars for the celebration of Labor day and the money was expended under the direction of a joint committee of members of the city council and the labor unions. In 1901, however, an injunction was secured against the expenditure of this money and since that time no appropriation has been made or petitioned for.

The labor unions have evidently made up their minds that if they celebrate Labor day they will have to do so at their own expense. But they supposed that they should have certain privileges on the common inasmuch as the park commission is letting lots on the common for the Fourth of July despite the fact that a decision of a former city [illegible] against [illegible] on July, 1901 that City Solicitor [illegible] out an opinion that there was no legal authority for [illegible] lots on the common for the benefit of the city or any other organization. That opinion was respected for a time but the park commission apparently has forgotten all about it if it has not intentionally decided to ignore it. The labor unions are asking why it is that the park commission can violate the law as laid down by a former city solicitor. They believe that under the circumstances they would be justified in taking a hand in the enforcement of the law since they have been held so strictly to its provisions as regards the use of the South common and appropriation for Labor day.

City Solicitor [illegible] decided that no superintendent and no committee of the city council had any right to let spaces or booths on the common and that the police commission had no right to license people to do business on the common.

If Mr. [illegible] was right the labor men could get an injunction to prevent the park commission from renting a single lot on the common.

POLICE BOARD

Has Not Acted Upon Smith's Resignation

No official action has been taken on the resignation of Joseph Smith, clerk of the police board, and it is stated that Mr. Smith will hold office until July 31, or until such time as the man slated for the office has succeeded in passing the civil service examination.

Asked today relative to Mr. Smith's resignation, Mr. Wier said: "No official action has as yet been taken." This was all the information that Mr. Wier would proffer and he referred the reporter to Mr. Smith. "No one member of the board has the right to discuss this matter in the absence of the other two members of the board. Mr. Smith is the right man for you to talk with," said Mr. Wier.

"Does Mr. Smith know what is intended?" asked the reporter.

"I cannot discuss the matter with you and it is useless for you to try to pump me," said Mr. Wier.

The reporter failed to reach Mr. McEvoy or Mr. Jennings, and he learned that Mr. Smith was out of town.

WM. J. BRYAN

ADDRESSED THE NORWEGIAN-AMERICAN DELEGATES

TRONDHJEM, Norway, June 23. The Norwegian American delegates to the coronation of King Haakon held a meeting today in the garden of the old archbishops palace and invited Wm. J. Bryan to address them. When Mr. Bryan appeared he was presented with American and Norwegian flags and the crowd cheered him.

Mr. Bryan said that judging Norway by her sons who came to America, he wanted to offer her his congratulations. He declared that Norway had achieved high civilization without losing any of her early, rugged strength, a thing almost rarely achieved. Mr. Bryan concluded with hoping the country's prosperity would be as long as her days were now.

Several delegates also addressed the meeting.

STOMACH OF DOG

Rebels Against Preserved Meat

CHICAGO, June 23.—A despatch to the Record Herald from Topeka, Kas., says:

That even the stomach of a dog rebels when fed on meats preserved with benzoate and borax, was demonstrated yesterday by Dr. J. S. Crumbine, secretary of the state board of health, in an address before the convention of the county and city health officers of the state.

Dr. Crumbine said that May 1 he took three dogs of about the same age. Every morning he fed each one half pound of fresh, lean meat, at noon each had a pint of milk and at night each dog had another half pound of meat. The food for one dog was treated with a one per cent solution of benzoate. For the second a one per cent solution of borax was used. The third dog was fed untreated meat and milk.

Within two weeks the benzoate dog became cross and refused to have anything to do with the others. It lost its appetite and in six weeks had gained only three pounds in weight.

The borax dog did not become cross, but within ten days its general health declined and it refused to drink the borated milk. In four weeks it had to be coaxed to eat meat, even when boracic acid was used.

The dog that had been fed untreated meat gained in weight an average of one pound a week during the test and at no time did it become listless or lose its appetite.

A FATAL DEFECT

Detected in the Meat Inspection Bill

WASHINGTON, June 23. That there is a fatal defect in the meat inspection provision of the agricultural appropriation bill as it came from the house of representatives, is the opinion of Senator Bailey, as expressed in the senate today when consideration of Senator Proctor's motion to send the bill to conference was resumed.

He based his criticism on the clause relating to the chain of stock entering the packing houses, saying that it gives a police supervision that the federal government cannot exercise. He suggested that the provision should be made to read so as to make it unlawful to transport from one state to another any beef or beef products that have not been inspected as provided for by law. The inspectors could never determine which of the cattle, sheep or swine are to go into interstate commerce and he predicted there would be another explosion and another agitation when the matter is taken into the courts as he had no doubt it would be if there was no amendment.

DRASTIC MEASURE

To Stop Foreign Corporations Buying St. Railways

BOSTON, June 23.—A drastic bill designed to prevent foreign railroad corporations from purchasing Massachusetts street railway companies and forcing foreign companies to relinquish any Massachusetts railways which they may control, was before the committee on rules of the house today on the question of the admission of the measure for consideration today when prorogation had been planned. The bill would affect particularly the New York, New Haven & Hartford which has many holdings of street railways in this state. The measure was received from Att'y-Gen. Dana Malone, who had been requested under an order of Representative Weeks of Everett to point out what form of legislation was necessary to prevent the purchase of street railway properties by railroads organized under a foreign charter more specifically, the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Especial interest was attached to the attorney general's bill because it was understood that its provisions had the sanction of Gov. Guild, who, it was stated, was anxious to have the matter considered before the adjournment of this general court.

The suggested restriction of foreign railroad corporations follows a decisive defeat of the so-called merger bill which was pending in the legislature for some time. This measure provided that domestic street railway corporations could legally acquire domestic street railway companies, an authority not now existant. This bill, which was defeated after a long debate, was framed to extend to Massachusetts railroads the same privileges enjoyed by railroads having charters granted by other states. These foreign railroads have been permitted to purchase local street railways in the absence of any statute prohibiting the same. Attorney General Malone's bill follows:

"If a foreign corporation acquires, owns or controls, directly or indirectly, capital stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any domestic street railway companies having a location in any city or town of this commonwealth unless authorized so to do by the laws of this commonwealth, the supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic street railway companies and the attorney general shall institute proceedings for such dissolution and for the proper disposition of the assets of such company."

Under this act the acquisition by a foreign company of local properties is punished by the immediate dissolution of the acquired property.

The committee on rules considered the question of suspending the rule to admit the bill until a late hour last night but reported no conclusion and adjourned to meet again today. A recommendation to suspend the rules must have the support of four-fifths of the members of the house before the bill can be considered.

Further interest in the railroad bill developed when a message was received in the legislature today from Governor Guild on the subject at issue in which the governor declared that the present railroad system is unjust and inequitable and in which he pointed out that the control of our own railroads is passing into the hands of aliens. The governor's message follows:

"I congratulate you on the defeat of a measure that would have sanctioned the possible consolidation of all transportation in Massachusetts under the control of a single corporation. The present railroad system, however, is most unjust and inequitable. Our steam railroad system is forbidden to meet the competition of electric street car lines by purchase or control of their stock but another controlled by men who are not citizens of Massachusetts is not only permitted to exercise that privilege, but is exercising it today to such an extent that healthy competition in western Massachusetts is almost throttled.

"Slowly, surely the control of our own railroads, the control of the passage to market of every product, the control of transportation to and from his work of every Massachusetts citizen is passing from our hands to those of aliens. I therefore urge upon you with all the strength that is in me, the passage of some legislation giving relief from the grave injustice. Let Massachusetts announce that transportation within her borders is in the future to be controlled by the people of Massachusetts and not by men beyond the reach of her laws and the inspiration of her citizens."

The message and the bill suggested by Attorney General Malone last night were referred to the committee on railroads and street railways sitting jointly for a hearing in accordance with the rules of the legislature.

HAS APPENDICITIS

MRS. MIZNER IS IN DANGEROUS CONDITION.

CHICAGO, June 23. The Tribune today says:

Mrs. Wilson Mizner, or Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes, as she preferred to be called, is ill of appendicitis at her residence 3,200 Michigan avenue. The first report was that her condition was exceedingly grave, and that it was doubtful if she would recover.

Dr. William E. Quine, said last night, however, that Mrs. Mizner was in no immediate danger. He said that if she died it would not be due to appendicitis or the operation, but in consequence of complications. He thought that she might get well.

An emergency operation was performed Thursday and yesterday the case appeared to be somewhat more hopeful. Dr. J. D. Murphy performed the operation at the residence.

Following a night of considerable pain, Mrs. Mizner said yesterday that she felt easier and was sure she would be restored to health.

Mr. Mizner has not been notified of his wife's illness. He is in San Francisco.

Mrs. Mizner under the will of Mr. Yerkes, received absolutely only $200,000. She has during her life, however, a half interest in the estate, estimated to be worth $15,000,000.

Mrs. Mizner several months ago, before she came to Chicago announced her intention of giving $1,000,000 to found a hospital in Chicago to the memory of Mr. Yerkes and it was said that her will provided for a legacy of that amount.

CLINTON, June 23.—Thomas J. Rogan, the local business agent of the granite cutters union here was arraigned and discharged before Judge Avery in the local court today, charged with the illegal intimidation of workmen. Judge Avery in discharging Rogan stated that the prisoner was acting as an agent of the union and was therefore merely delivering a union message when he called the men off on a strike.

CHINESE SOCIETY

To Protect Members Against Fire Losses

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. The Oakland and San Francisco branches of the Chinese society, Chew Hung Tong, held a meeting yesterday and decided to take steps to protect their members who were insured and suffered loss by the fire in this city from unfair treatment at the hands of the insurance companies.

The Chew Hung Tong is the largest Chinese secret society in the world and 100,000 Chinese in this country constitute part of its membership. It is credited with carrying influence in all parts of the world.

In proportion to the number and business they represented before the fire, it is said the Chinese carried in the aggregate more insurance than any other nationality in San Francisco. Their losses amount to several millions of dollars.

SUBWAY BILL

WAS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR GUILD.

BOSTON, June 23. Gov. Guild today signed the Cambridge subway bill which provides for the construction of two subways in that city one through Massachusetts avenue to Harvard and the other through Cambridge street, East Cambridge, to Harvard Square. The former route will connect with cars running over the new West Boston bridge and the other with the new Charles river dam route. The bill also provides for the extension of the elevated railway from the North station, this city through West End streets to the Charles river dam. By these means Cambridge will be assured of rapid transit in two directions. The original franchise granted the Boston Elevated railway provided for one elevated structure through the heart of the city, but so intense was the opposition of Cambridge people to the elevated that the subway was substituted by this year's legislature. Opposition to the West End elevated was made before the governor by various parties who desired a subway instead, but the governor decided in favor of the bill as enacted in the legislature.

COUNTESS OF ABERDEEN CHRISTENED BATTLESHIP.

GLASGOW, Scotland, June 23.—The British battleship Agamemnon of 16,500 tons was successfully launched here today, and was christened by the Countess of Aberdeen. NO APPLICATION

UNLESS ALL ARE UNDER BANNER OF A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A question of long standing was settled at last night's meeting of the International Steel and Copper Plate Printers Union when resolutions were adopted declaring that it would be detrimental to them to affiliate with any union of plate engravers until all local unions of that trade are amalgamated under the banner of the American Federation of Labor. The resolutions also urge a consolidation of the plate engravers in order that the members of the two trades may co-operate in trade lines.

KING AND QUEEN

Held First Leveo at the Palace

A VERY ATTRACTIVE SCENE

Foreigners Already are Leaving Trondhjem

TRONDHJEM, Norway, June 23.—King Haakon and Queen Maud today held their first levee and the palace was again the town's center of interest. All the special ambassadors, ministers, officials and other prominent persons attended. The American special ambassador, Charles H. Graves, with his staff and the ladies of the American party were present. Mr. Graves presented Captain [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryan and Mrs. Marshall Field.

The sun shone warmly and Trondhjem was made brilliant by the uniformed and brightly costumed assemblage, presenting an exceedingly attractive scene.

King Haakon will receive in audience the Norwegian-American delegates to his coronation on Monday. Dr. Dane, of Chicago, will on their occasion present to his majesty a congratulatory address and the Norwegian consul at Chicago, F. M. Gade, will give the king a portfolio containing music, poems and drawings in behalf of the Norwegians of that city. His majesty probably will make one response to the Norwegian-American delegations which number about a dozen. The great bulk of the Norwegians who came to Norway from America, ostensibly for the coronation did not come to Trondhjem but instead scattered to their former homes in various parts of the country, love of their homesteads and kinsmen proving stronger than their desire to visit Trondhjem. In any case, the trip here is difficult and somewhat expensive, and, besides, the coronation festivities are not confined to Trondhjem but are universal throughout Norway.

The crowd which came to see King Haakon and Queen Maud crowned is already breaking up but the special embassies will remain here until Tuesday or Wednesday. The formal leave taking of the embassies will occur Tuesday. The first to depart left here by train last night and today several of the foreign [illegible] steamers hoisted their anchors and steamed down the fiords. The formal proceedings today with an excursion around the fiord but King Haakon and Queen Maud will remain at Trondhjem until Emperor William comes here, July 8.

Almost as beautiful and radiant in colors as the triumphal arch that fills the skies when storms prepare to part, is the arch at the corner of Aiken and Moody streets. Other features of the observation of the day are crowned with beauty but the supreme effort of the decorator and designer found its climax in the creation of the arch, whose colors are representatives of national love and sacred reverence of grand old France and the saint whose name is honored today.

It was almost impossible to approach the arch today so great was the crowd that surged from intersecting streets to view it. The streets on all sides were banked with human faces and exclamations of admiration and delight were heard on all sides. It was a cosmopolitan crowd that stood and admired it today and they expressed, in divers tongues, their appreciation of its beauty.

Last night its beauty was set forth even more radiantly by the fire of electric lights. The arch is built of red, white and blue bunting and is surmounted with green foliage. It is 24 feet high 36 feet wide, and ten feet deep at the base, narrowing to six at the top. Sunbursts of red white and blue cover the side pilasters framed in trimmings of maple branches forming the four corners. A parapet of twelve young maples from the middle of which three large flags, American French and Carillon banner, wave in the breeze and surmount the arch. Its effect is very beautiful. The whole is studded by small flags. So is all. The whole top of the construction is outlined with incandescent lights and bulbs illuminate the following inscription "Affirmons-nous." The arch will be illuminated again tonight.

Never before in the history of the city have the decorations been more extended, elaborate and beautiful. It was not left to the French-American alone to decorate in honor of the day, but storekeepers and others who cannot boast of French descent have done honor to the occasion. They were inspired by the enthusiastic and whole-souled way in which preparations for the event were carried on. This day's observance will go down as a fitting tribute to the French-Americans of Lowell and the pages of history yet unwritten will tell of the glory and magnificence of the event.

It is in Aiken street, where stands the triumphal arch, that the decorations are most beautiful and most extensive. All manner of decorative adornment known to the hand of the skilled decorator is in evidence. In private houses the beauty of the decorations is their simplicity. The Vincent block is almost completely enshrouded in flags and bunting and the sun-kissed colors are strikingly beautiful and attractive.

St. Jean Baptist church, St. Joseph's college, the rectory and the C. M. A. C. building are rich in their decorations.

With all the brilliancy, however, that colors artistically arranged can afford, it requires the human face, the active pulsation of the human being, to broaden and make unspeakably beautiful the grandeur of such scenes as this. It was in Pawtucketville, on the platform erected by the Club Social that the human face made beautiful and the human voice electrified with song. Forty young girls dressed in white sang patriotic songs as the parade passed by. The stand was supported by two posts entwined with red, white and blue, and covered with a wide band of the tricolored, garnished with maple leaves the emblem of Canada.

The most attractive decoration in West Centralville is a platform, gay with a multitude of flying flags. The platform was erected at a point at the corner of Lilley and Aiken avenues. Fifty-six girls were stationed on the platform and sang as the parade went by.

The mass celebrated at the Fair Grounds upon the arrival of the parade was one of most impressive and most unique religious services ever witnessed in Lowell. The Fair Grounds covers a great area but it was packed nevertheless when the service began. Thousands were present and the late comers could hardly get even a glimpse at the altar. Many went to the grounds before the parade arrived and obtained the best positions. The space within the race track where the altar was erected was reserved for the paraders, and at the disbandment of the parade the bands were first grouped about the altar where they played in unison. The military guards who formed a guard of honor around the altar then took their places while the other societies filled in on the outside. The public filled the grand stand and the space outside the race track.

The altar was erected on the grounds last night by Rev. Brother Eugene Demers.

It is placed on a stand 10 feet in height, facing the grand stand. The framework is covered with white cloth, and is ornamented with red, white and blue streamers and a cluster of flags.

At the base is the striking inscription which had been suggested for it by Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., at one of the committee meetings:

"Let us be good American citizens, but let us remain always faithful to our faith, our customs and our language."

The mass was sung by Rev. Fr. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis, and was served by Capt. Xavier Delisle and Lieut. Lazare Boule of the Garde des Saints Anges. The music was given by a chorus of 150 boys from the Brothers' school, and they sang several appropriate hymns.

Considering the great gathering and the attendant tumult and the fact that all were in the open air, the singing was excellent.

At the conclusion of mass Rev. Fr. Lalande, S. J., the noted Canadian pulpit orator and historian, delivered an eloquent sermon, standing on the steps of the altar.

After mass lunch was served and preparations made for the afternoon's sports. The crowd at the Fair Grounds was one of the largest ever seen there.

CELEBRATION NOTES

That parade, "she's a good one."

For originality of design these floats were unbeatable.

It is estimated that over 100,000 people reviewed the parade along the streets.

Never has the city been so generally decorated as it is today. The new flag of Canada was everywhere in evidence while the tri-color was entwined with Old Glory wherever one looked. Between Suelk and Cabot streets on Merrimack were noticed one Irish, one British and one Greek flag.

None looked more graceful on horse back than did Lucien Turcotte, son of the chief marshal, mounted on a prancing steed. He has been taking lessons from his friend Henry Keyes who is an old time circus rider.

The National band along the line of march rendered a new march entitled, "His Honor" composed by Paul A. Sullivan of this city and dedicated to Mayor Casey.

The uniformed bodies from out of town marched with true military grace.

Ex-Councilman Eloie Laporte looked charming in his tall hat presented to him by his old colleague, Ex-Councilman Hugh Finnerty.

The float representing "The United States," with 44 charming young women was certainly one of the prettiest features and caused one to recall Dr. Drummond's celebrated poem, "De Nice Leetle Canadienne," the opening stanza of which runs as follows:

"You can pas on de worl' w'erever you lak,
Tak' de steamboat for go Angleterre,
Tak' car on de State, an den you come back,
An' go all de place, I don't care —
Ma frien' dat's a fack, I know you will say,
W'en you come on dis contree again,
Dere's no girl can touch, wat we see ev'ry day,
De nice leetle Canadienne."

IN FALL RIVER

Great Rejoicing Among the Operatives

AN INCREASE IN WAGES

Will Go Into Effect Next Monday

FALL RIVER, June 25.—When the machinery in the 93 factories owned by 41 corporations started at 6.30 this morning, the last week of the sliding scale arrangement which was counted on by its advocates among the treasurers to prove the panacea for the industrial ills from which Fall River is a chronic sufferer will have been begun. The six days cannot end any too quickly for the 30,000 hands, for on July 2 the scale of wages in force when the reduction was made in July, 1904, will go into effect.

Consequently the national holiday, which is to be celebrated with uncommon energy, will have an unusual significance in that it will marke what everyone is hoping will be the beginning of a new era in the manufacturing history of the city.

The advance will add $28,000 weekly to the pay roll of the city.

Employes of the Fall River Iron Works company will not be affected, for they have been enjoying the boon since the other manufacturers granted an increase of 5 per cent.

Nobody will be surprised if M. C. D. Borden, the owner of that plant, goes a couple of points beyond his competitors whom he likes to harass by bidding against them for help and always successfully. Weavers who now receive 18 cents a cut will be paid 19.8 cents. Other classes will benefit in like proportion, furnishing assurance of a pleasurable summertime for the whole city.

TO NAME SENATORS

Gethro Promises to Make Startling Disclosures

BOSTON, June 25.—Frank J. Gethro, whose confession as to how he bought votes in the Massachusetts legislature has startled the whole state, is ready to hurl another bomb.

He expects that his confession will be made the ground of a summons for him to appear before the bar of the house, and if so called he says he will tell to the house the names of the men whom, he says, he bribed.

Gethro will go further. He has referred to the methods in vogue in the senate, and if called before the bar of the senate he says he will give the names of certain senators whose votes he purchased against the overtime bill, whose sensational defeat by a minority of the senate caused a tempest at the state house.

Gethro's confession is admitted by leading lawyers in the house to be sufficient grounds for a summons before the bar of either the house or the senate. He is prepared for such a summons, and will tell to the house or the senate all the facts in his possession.

This is his answer to the comments of the legislators who have said that there would probably be no further action on the part of the house on account of the fact that the confession did not give any information as to the names of the men whom Gethro says he bribed.

While Gethro will not talk for publication he has made it plain that he only awaits the action of the house to carry his confession to the extreme limit of giving in complete nicety all the details as to the amazing system of bribery in which he places himself as a prominent figure, with a contract to furnish votes for any measure whatsoever.

It was learned last night that this attitude of Gethro would probably bring about some action in the house at its next session, which comes tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. At that time an order will be introduced to reopen the bribery case, and if the order is passed the committee on rules will then be in a position to take whatever action it sees fit regarding the summoning of Gethro before the bar of the house to make good on his confession.

Speaker Cole is frankly of opinion that the entire matter is now up to District Attorney Moran, but the speaker will not go against the will of the house if the body insists upon having all the facts in connection with the bribery scandal cleared up before prorogation. Such a clearing up would be had by a public confession from Gethro upon the floor of the legislature, of which he was only a few days ago a member.

Another explosion is also due over the charges that have been made to the effect that the testimony as given in the hearing room before the committee on rules was not all included in the 20 volumes which appeared as the official evidence in the bribery probe.

This charge will be made the basis of an action by District Attorney Moran, who will proceed against the official stenographers. Thomas W. Lawson has said that Representative Walker of Brookline directed the stenographer not to take down a part of the testimony he was giving before the committee, and the district attorney has learned that part of the testimony of Representative Dowd of Fall River was omitted from the official copies of the evidence, this statement being as to why Mr. Dowd had changed his position from against the midnight liquor bill to for the bill.

Leading members of the house committee on rules are not in favor of reopening the bribery case, if it were a question o fbringing in all the witnesses again to question them about the matters mentioned in the Gethro confession. But the willingness of Gethro to come before the bar of the house and give the names of certain members of the legislature in public is a new question.

THEY QUARRELED

Husband And Wife Couldn't Agree

MAN ARRESTED FOR CONTEMPT

He Told Her Not to Go to Court

A very strenuous argument between man and wife was heard in the police court today. The man was James Rea and he was charged with assault and battery on his wife. The assault occurred Friday night at their room in a house at the corner of Worthen and Moody streets. Mrs. Rea said that her husband struck her in the face and that she bled from the nose and mouth. Her testimony was corroborated by two other witnesses. He contended that she was drinking that night. Both have police records for drunkenness. Mrs. Rea told the court that on her way to the Market street building this morning she was accosted by her husband's two brothers, and they told her not to go to court. Mrs. Rea is now on probation and they told her that if she went to court to appear against her husband she would be sent away.

The two brothers in question were in the gallery when she told their story and they immediately proceeded to make their escape. One of them succeeded in escaping but the other was captured and pulled into court.

"Do you not know," said Judge Hadley, "that it is contempt of court to interfere with witnesses who have been summoned to appear?"

"I did not know," replied Rea.

"Well, you know now," said His Honor. "I'll excuse you this time on account of your ignorance, but if you do it again I will send you to jail; remember that."

James Rea was found guilty of assault and battery. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $15 and was ordered in $100 to keep the peace for six months.

The ravings of Mark Donlan were repeated by Deputy Welch and Mark was in the dock. When Mark gets drunk he takes the middle of the road and hollers murder, fire and any other old thing that happens to bounce upon his memory. He cut loose Sunday and was locked up after having disturbed and frightened men, women and children in Dummer street. Today he was sentenced to the state farm and he appealed.

John Eliot was sentenced to two months in jail; Thomas McMann, three months in jail, and Eugene Juessy four months in jail. Mrs. Riley was sentenced to Sherborn. D. J. Mahoney, Simon Graville, Napoleon Laroche, were fined $5 each. James Carr, Michael Foy, John McLaughlin, Stanley Hopp and Timothy J. Shea were fined $5 each. Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

THE ALDERMEN

May Act On Telephone Matter Tomorrow

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and the all important business before the board will be action on the petition for a franchise by the Merrimack Valley Independent Telephone Co.

There is no certainty as to what the board will do on this question. It is certain that an affirmative vote would cause such indignation among business men that an indignation meeting might be called to denounce such action.

WOMAN OVERCOME

BY THE HEAT NEAR CITY HALL TO-DAY.

Mrs. Joseph Loufe, residing in Ennell street, while watching the parade in front of city hall this morning was overcome by the heat and it was about an hour before she regained consciousness.

She had been standing in the sun for over an hour and when the parade was about half over she was seen to drop to the ground. She was immediately carried to the basement of city hall where restoratives were given her but it was some time before she regained consciousness and was removed to her home.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Policy Holders Decide to Fight Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 25.—From now on until December one of the most extraordinary campaigns in the history of the country will be waged between the 1,100,000 policy holders of the Mutual Life and the New York Life insurance companies on the one side, and the strongest possible group of Wall street interests on the other.

For several weeks both sides have been preparing for the campaign. The stake is of monumental importance, as it involves control of both the Mutual Life and the New York Life companies, whose combined assets amount to the colossal sum of $900,000,000.

Wall street interests have always been in complete control of the vast savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders, and they do not propose to surrender their grip on such a stupendous money-making power without making a fight of the first magnitude.

The policy holders of the two companies in the United States, Canada and the principal European countries have been quietly organized during the past six weeks by representatives of the international policy holders' committee, under the direction of its counsel, Samuel Untermeyer. As a result of this organization it is expected that a majority of the policy holders of each company will vote at the annual election on Dec. 18 to turn out the J. P. Morgan management, which now controls the New York Life, and the Standard oil management, which is in control of the Mutual Life.

There has been much speculation as to the identity of the men who compose the international policy holders' committee and for the first time their names were announced yesterday. In many respects the committee is the most remarkable body of its kind ever formed, the greatest possible care having been exercised to select only those in whom the public has implicit confidence. Men with Wall street connections or under the domination of the Morgan or Standard Oil interests were carefully avoided.

One of the most notable members of the committee is Cardinal Gibbons, prelate of the Catholic church in America. The fact that Cardinal Gibbons joined the committee is regarded in itself as the strongest possible evidence of the importance he attaches to the matter at issue the safety of the savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders.

An equally notable member is Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, who is probably the leading Baptist clergyman of the United States. He is the founder of the Baptist temple and Temple college at Philadelphia.

The other members of the committee are:

President E. E. Clark of the Order of Railway Conductors.

Governor N. B. Broward of Florida.
Gov. N. C. Blanchard of Louisiana.
Gov. J. Frank Hanley of Indiana.
Gov. J. A. Johnson of Minnesota.
Gov. S. W. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania.
Gov. Henry Roberts of Connecticut.
John C. Hemphill of South Carolina.
Harlow N. Higginbotham of Illinois, partner of the late Marshall Field.
Z. A. Lash, king's counsel of Canada.
Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, son-in-law of President Roosevelt.
Frederick B. Neidringhaus of St. Louis.

21 WERE KILLED

By Street Cars in Chicago

MAYOR THREATENS TO ACT

He Wants Leading Officials Indicted

CHICAGO, June 25. The Record-Herald today says:

Indictment of the presidents and leading officials of the various Chicago traction companies will be sought by Mayor Dunne if a prompt and satisfactory explanation are not given him concerning the recent fatalities laid at the door of the street railway companies. The mayor announced last night that he would write an open letter to the traction officials today presenting to them the report of Dr. Doty, superintendent of street car service, who has notified the city executive that within 30 days twenty one persons have been killed by cars in Chicago.

Mayor Dunne will ask the companies to affirm or deny them to explain the charges made by Dr. Doty. He will follow this request with one demanding that the officials expand themselves with their street railway equipment, with the conditions of their lines and the existence or nonexistence of proper safeguards and appliances for the protection of their patrons.

When the city executive has received the replies and explanations of the companies he will decide if they are adequate and if there is promise of improved conditions in the future. If he concludes that the people of Chicago are not to be given greater protection he will at once submit the cases to State Attorney Healy and ask that the grand jury return true bills, not only for the employes of the companies who are generally placed under arrest and bailed into court, but for the presidents of every company included in his "black list."

O'MEARA'S CLAIM

Says Mayor Interferes With Police

BOSTON, June 25. Police Commissioner O'Meara issued a statement last evening in which he claims that certain recent acts of the mayor's office were in conflict with the authority of the police commissioner and had a tendency to impair the discipline among the members of the Boston police force by giving them the idea of a divided authority.

Mr. O'Meara cited three instances of alleged "interference by the mayor's office."

One related to the Dorchester woman who persisted in collecting garbage under alleged irregular methods, and whose case, it was reported a few days ago had been settled at a conference in the mayor's office.

Another case was the Tucker meeting in Faneuil hall when the mayor's office announced that any results offered to Governor Guild by the speakers would result in the stopping of the meeting.

The third case cited was the arrangement reported a day or two ago, by which the members of the police force were to be used in certain emergencies to notify families of patients who had died at the city hospital.

MAYOR REPLIES.

Mayor Fitzgerald, when the statement of Commissioner O'Meara was called to his attention, said:

"The commissioner's statement is so extraordinary in some respects that I will not attempt to reply to it very much in detail just now.

"That he should think that the mayor's office has any desire or intention to conflict with the authority of the police commissioner is to me almost inexplicable.

"I think Mr. O'Meara rather overstates the case when he says that the acts attributed to the mayor would give the police force of Boston any idea of a divided authority. The men are much too intelligent for that.

"The very instances which you mention as being cited by Mr. O'Meara show that there was ample warrant for action by the mayor's office action, by the way, which did not, and could not, conflict with the authority of the commissioner.

"In the case of the garbage woman the mayor's office simply investigated her claim of having a permit from the city or a contract made with some department. Surely the board of health and the city departments having to do with such matters were not going outside their province in dealing with the woman. As to any legal action against her by the police department, the mayor's office has nothing to do."

COMMUNICATION

Editor Sun: A writer in a local paper telling about Billy Hawes' baseball experience makes an omission which I have come to bolt in. Among other things he stated that but three of the old Bartletts now live in Lowell. This may be true but the "omission" referred to lives in Dracut, and should have been mentioned. Billy Hawes, Gene Coughlan and Al Ashworth there are the Lowell men; but George Sladen lives in Dracut and Billy Hawes would no doubt tell you that there was a ball played from the ground up.

There were two positions George did not shine in that of pitcher and catcher; but for fielding, batting, throwing and base running abilities he didn't have an equal on the old Bartlett team. When George Sladen elected to give up baseball the game lost a man who would have shone in the fastest company, and today he could have been relating experiences similar to those of his more famous old captain, Bill. J. C.

10 YEARS WED

MR. AND MRS. GARVEY OBSERVED THE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Garvey of 65 Lilley avenue observed the tenth anniversary of their marriage yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Garvey intended to have the pleasing event pass off quietly, but their friends desired otherwise. Mrs. Garvey is a native of Nashua, N. H., and yesterday a delegation came from Nashua and took possession of the house. The happy couple received many useful and costly presents, among which were a silver teapot from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Warren; a china salad dish from Miss Nellie Warren, a china chocolate pot, Mr. and Mrs. John Flinn, a silver tray and brush, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran; a silver waiter, Mrs. Molhair; a table cover, Mrs. Doyle; a nicely made box with a good sum of money in it, Mr. and Mrs. John Crouse, a second box, also filled with money, Mr. and Mrs. George Moran, and a fifty-dollar bill from Miss Jennie Moran. Mrs. Eagan, a neighbor of Mrs. Garvey, made a large wedding cake inscribed "1896-1906." The happy couple were warmly congratulated and it was the wish of all that their future life will be as happy as has been their past. The couple have six children, Margaret, May, Thomas M., Harold J., Raymond F., John H., and George H.

THREE MAY DIE

Loraine and Cleveland Factions Fight

LORAINE, O., June 25.—A decisive battle was fought here yesterday between several hundred Hungarians from Loraine and Cleveland who were holding a reunion and picnic. The fight started from some unknown cause and the forces of the two cities formed opposing lines and struggled for nearly an hour for supremacy. Beer bottles, clubs, knives and billies were used and when the fight was over it was found several were injured.

Three of the Cleveland crowd were so badly hurt that they are not expected to recover.

MILKMAN HURT

THROWN FROM HIS WAGON THIS MORNING.

Andrew J. Livingston, a milkman residing at 418 Riverside street, was thrown from his wagon early this morning and sustained painful injuries.

Livingston was on his daily round of duty delivering milk and when near the corner of Westford and Wilder streets a little dog rushed out and barked at the horse. The horse jumped to one side and Livingston losing his balance was thrown to the ground.

He was picked up and taken to the home of Dr. Jones nearby and the ambulance summoned after which he was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found he was suffering from a dislocated shoulder, while he had a gash over the right eye.

TWO SHOT

ONE MAN HAS BULLET WOUND IN HEAD.

BOSTON, June 25.—As the result of an altercation with four strangers at Belmont, yesterday afternoon, William Ryan of 77 Beacon street, Arlington, lies in a critical condition at the Waltham hospital, suffering from a severe bullet wound, extending from the left cheek to the back of the head. His brother, Michael Ryan, was also a target for the shooting, but luckily he escaped with only a slight scalp wound. The shooting was heard by residents in the vicinity of Prospect street, who hurried to the scene, where they found Michael Leary of Belmont, another of the party, assisting the wounded men, while their four assailants were making good their escape, aided by the neighboring woods.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. George Frederick Rawnsley and Miss Jennie Wilson were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of Rev. Arthur P. Wedge, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride, 4 Sutherland street, where a reception was held. During the evening there were piano selections and solos by some of their young friends, also selections from a phonograph which was very much enjoyed, the bridal march from Lohengrin being played upon the return of the couple. They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents. Among those who were present at the wedding were friends from New Bedford and Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. George Rawnsley started Sunday morning on their wedding tour and will be at home, 4 Sutherland street, to their many friends, August 1.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Pilgrim Commandery Gone to Haverhill

Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar went to Haverhill early this morning to participate with Haverhill and Newburyport commanderies in a St. John's day observance. Last year the Lawrence commandery was included, but this year that commandery is holding an observance of its own.

Pilgrim commandery, headed by the Lowell Military band, left the temple in Merrimack street at 8.30 o'clock and marched to the Middlesex street station where a train was taken for Haverhill.

On arrival there the three commanderies will go to Canobie Lake park where there will be a banquet and a program of sports. The Lowell commandery will return by train from Haverhill.

The officers of Pilgrim Commandery are: Eminent Sir James Savage, commander; Sir Harry G. Pollard, generalissimo; Sir Frederick W. Farnum, captain-general; Sir Frank B. Sherburne, prelate; Sirs J. C. Blood and Horace S. Bacon, senior and junior wardens; Eminent Sir Harry Dunlap, treasurer; Eminent Sir Herbert C. Taft, recorder; Sir Charles H. Robbins standard bearer; Sir Charles R. Goddard, sword bearer; Sir Arthur D. Prince, warder; Sirs B. W. Clements, E. H. Barker, E. T. Gowarl, captains of the guard; Sir J. W. Crawford, sentinel and armorer.

MAN RUN OVER

And Injured by Auto on Central Street

Jeremiah Harrington, an elderly man residing at 42 Tyler street, was knocked down and run over by an automobile at the corner of Central and Appleton streets yesterday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock and narrowly escaped being killed. He sustained three cuts, one over the right eye and two at the base of the skull.

He was standing on the curbing at the corner and just as a machine numbered 1326 owned by Dr. Boynton of Sandwich, and occupied by the doctor and a party of friends came along he stepped into the street. Owing to the fact that Mr. Harrington's eyesight is defective he did not notice the approaching machine and the auto struck him a glancing blow and he fell directly in front of the machine.

The machine was traveling at a moderate rate of speed and was brought to a stop just as the front wheels passed over the man's body. It was only after some difficulty that Mr. Harrington was extricated from beneath the machine. He was taken to Pearson's drug store and Dr. Edward M. Murphy, who witnessed the accident, was quickly on the scene and rendered valuable assistance.

Dr. Boynton made known his identity, and together with Dr. Murphy made a careful examination of the injured man, and after it had been ascertained that his injuries were not serious Dr. Boynton rode away after giving his name and address to an officer who was attracted to the scene, and agreeing to pay all doctor's bills which might be incurred.

LABORER KILLED

Innocent Victim of Street Fight

CHICAGO, June 25.—A feud in the Austrian colony at Thornton, Ill., resulted yesterday in a fight which waged up and down the main street of the town for an hour and ended in the killing of one man and the injury of many others.

Peter Hendricks, a laborer on the town roadway, was the innocent victim of the race war. The man who shot him gave the name of John Stienucz, a laborer in a stone quarry. Edward Goening, night watchman in the quarry works, was probably fatally injured.

The fight started in a saloon, a headquarters of the Austrians employed in the stone works. There had been strife among these men and an outbreak was expected. Goening, it is said, started the immediate trouble by trying to break up a celebration which the Austrians were having in the saloon. Stienucz secured a revolver and led a small band of men down the main street. Crowds of people had gathered and Stienucz began shooting at them. Hendricks was in the front rank of the spectators and fell dead at the first volley.

This so enraged the crowd that an immediate attempt was made to lynch Stienucz. He was surrounded and beaten on the head with beer bottles. When the police rescued him he was unconscious. He and four of the rioters were locked up.

WANTED TO RIDE

SAM SILVERBLATT'S HORSE TAKEN TO NORTH CHELMSFORD.

The Lowell police think that North Chelmsford harbors a horse thief and they insinuate that somebody is going to be arrested.

Saturday night about 11 o'clock a horse and wagon belonging to Samuel Silverblatt, of 129 Howard street, was stolen in Mt. Vernon street. Mr. Silverblatt called at a house and left his horse standing in the street. When he returned the horse was not there.

He reported his loss at police headquarters and at an early hour Sunday morning word was received from the North Chelmsford truant school that a stray horse and wagon was being cared for at the barn of Edward Fallon near by.

Mr. Fallon and his son were awakened during the early hours of yesterday morning by a noise outside their house. In looking out of the window they saw a horse and wagon, with the driver attempting to untangle himself from the barbed wire fence.

When Mr. Fallon shouted an inquiry as to what the matter might be, the driver set off at a run toward North Chelmsford, leaving the horse and wagon behind.

Mr. Silverblatt was notified and later his property was returned to him.

This is the fourth case of a similar nature, which has occurred within recent date. In each instance reported, the thief has driven towards North Chelmsford and then abandoned the horse when near the village.

It is believed that the culprit is a man who got drunk and stayed too late for the last car.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL.

There was a very pretty social at the home of Miss Violet Hobson Friday night when fifty of her friends assembled to greet Mr. Robert McCour who arrived in Lowell from New York. Mr. McCour is now holding a very nice position in New York. There were many musical features including vocal solos. Refreshments were served.

SHOT THROUGH HEART.

DOVER, N. H., June 25.—Capt. Lewis E. Tuttle, commander of the Strafford guards, Co. A, 2d Infantry, N. H. N. G., and one of the most popular officers in the national guard, was shot accidentally through the heart and instantly killed by his service revolver Saturday evening, while on his way to the armory to pay off the members of the company for last week's duty in camp.

If Speaker Cannon holds out against the ship subsidy looters, he deserves to be president if any republican does.

The president has won out in favor of a locks canal across the isthmus. Now will his friend Taft cut loose and make the dirt fly?

And now, alas! good old Farmer Wilson has been caught redhanded diverting appropriations by congress otherwise than intended, by building the new agricultural department building contrary to the plans adopted. His only excuse is that "they all do it."

SENATOR BAILEY.

Senator Bailey just in time has called attention to a fatal defect in the meat inspection bill. Unfortunately, President Roosevelt's enthusiasm led him to insist upon a form of inspection that could not be carried out under federal laws. To do so would be an interference with the rights of the states.

THE REPUBLICAN TELEPHONE JOB

If the republicans of the board of aldermen insist upon granting a second telephone franchise in our public streets to be sold, transferred, or exploited in any way the petitioners may determine, let the responsibility rest with them alone. If, as would appear, the whole conspiracy is a republican job, then let it be so, and let no democrat have anything to do with it. The voters and the tax-payers of Lowell will eventually realize what party is responsible for such outrages upon the municipality.

TODAY'S PARADE.

The parade of our French American compatriots in celebration of St. John's day was in every way a credit to that section of the community. The splendid appearance of the men in line, the artistic design of the floats and the size and elaborate nature of the entire celebration is a matter for sincere congratulation to all who had any part in the arrangements. When our French citizens undertake anything of this kind they are willing to make any reasonable sacrifice in order to make the event a complete success.

The citizens of Lowell are becoming accustomed to big celebrations of various kinds and it would appear that certain societies have made up their minds that if they cannot hold a good celebration they will have none at all. That is an idea that if carried out will redound to the credit of the organizations and the nationalities appearing in line. It is a very gratifying feature of such occasions that whether they be French, Irish, Polish, Portuguese or Scandinavian they are always treated with respect by the citizens in general. That is as it should be in an American city and especially a cosmopolitan city like Lowell.

JUSTICE OF TEACHERS' CLAIMS.

We believe the justice of the claims of the Lowell teachers for an increase of salary is conceded on all sides. The only question that remains is how the money will be procured to pay them. We have suggested several methods of saving the amount necessary to grant a reasonable increase, and we believe that there are still other methods which the committee can adopt without in any way impairing the work of the schools.

It is to be hoped that the school board will see its way clear to grant a reasonable increase to the teachers of the primary and grammar grades with the opening of the next school term. The members of the school board themselves no doubt are as fully convinced as anybody of the justice of the teachers' claims to higher salary. It must not be supposed that the amount paid out to increase the salary of the teachers would be thrown away or would be barren of educational results. Only make the teachers contented with their lot, remove the causes of discontent and they will do better work. In this light, we believe, the schools will be greatly benefited by granting the increase asked by the teachers of primary and grammar grades. The higher salaries paid the elementary teachers in other cities is an allurement to the teachers of Lowell and will induce many of them to leave the city even after graduating at the training school. The school board should provide against this tendency without delay.

AN ADMIRABLE PLATFORM.

The democrats of Indiana at their late convention adopted an admirable platform, which deserves success by the support of all honest citizens. The following plank is especially worthy of careful attention by democrats and independent voters in every state as a fair statement of the conditions imposed on the people through republican legislation and as a remedy proposed when the democrats are entrusted with power. The platform said:

"For nearly ten years the republican party has been in absolute control in all departments in the national government, with power to change unjust conditions and to rectify evils. Yet during that time colossal combinations of capital have arisen to dominate the people and have stifled competition and unfairly limited the opportunity of the individual citizen. Wealth thereby illegally obtained has been unsparingly used to control legislation and corrupt elections. No honest effort has been made nor is being made by republican legislation to cure or eradicate these evils. We denounce the hypocrisy of the republican party, which, while pretending to legislate against these conditions, deals only with the symptoms and not with the disease. The unfair, tyrannical features of the so-called 'protective tariff' have made those things possible, and no permanent relief can be secured until its obnoxious features are removed. We demand that this be done by a tariff for revenue only.

"The growth of the trusts and other inordinate and dangerous combinations of capital, the tremendous and rapidly increasing absorption and centralization of the wealth of the country in the hands of a chosen few, all due to premeditated and systematic legislation in behalf of special interests by the republican party, demand a change in the policies imposed upon the country by that party and make the passage of restrictive laws an imperative necessity."

SEEN AND HEARD

A young woman went into the library a day or two [illegible] and approaching the lady behind the counter said: "I would like to take books from the [illegible]." [illegible] to get out a library card [illegible] "When you have obtained your card [illegible] will afford to you."

The young woman [illegible] departed and returning with the card [illegible] to the attendant: "[illegible]"

[illegible] when she had [illegible] sufficiently [illegible]

[illegible] a new [illegible] I like to get it of [illegible]

A [illegible] interesting description of a [illegible] is given by Miss Alice [illegible] the Craftsman. In [illegible] Twelves of Ellerswater [illegible] in the north of England [illegible] assistance of Arthur [illegible] a school of spinning [illegible] home for the women who [illegible] craft by which they [illegible] a living without leaving [illegible].

[illegible] was made for a wheel. It [illegible] have been easy to find one in [illegible] England, but not so in all Westmoreland. However, the search extended to the Isle of Man, and there [illegible] was discovered and a skilful [illegible] made fifteen copies. In three [illegible] enough thread had been spun [illegible] to make a good sized web. And then [illegible] search was begun, this time for a loom. Half a century had gone since a hand loom had been in use in the region. Among the cobwebs of a cellar in Kendall the detached pieces of an old worm-eaten one were found and taken to Ellerswater. The story of its rehabilitation reads more like legend than history. When the village carpenter, aided by the advice of Miss Twelves and the parish priest, had painfully succeeded in patching together the fragments so that every part seemed to be in its place, the loom could not be worked—something was wrong. They were in despair. Suddenly Miss Twelves bethought herself of a photograph of Giotto's reliefs illustrating the art of weaving, on the Campanile in Florence. They studied that photograph and the mystery was solved. The shuttle would fly, and Giotto, 600 years in his grave, had set to going a loom in the Highlands of Britain.

The necessary warping frame was built, a bobbin winder was made, an old man who had once woven was engaged, and in the spring of 1884 the first piece of linen was finished.

One of the quickest jobs in the history of street railways in this city has just been completed. The job in question was that of the Fletcher street line and the unusual headway made was due in a great measure to the "know how" efforts of Michael O'Donnell, the construction boss. The line from Broadway to Pawtucket street was completed in a little more than two weeks. It has been suggested that if Mr. O'Donnell ever "butted in" on the Panama canal job, he would finish the canal in jig time.

A parrot at Tray Rock, Lakeview, holds the record as a mimic. He is not a great talker but as an imitator of cracks, whistles, chirps, etc., he is the green-feathered champion.

From his perch on the wide piazza he imitates the frogs, and does it so well that visitors have been heard to say, "There's a frog on the piazza." Birds of the wildwood answer and draw near and fly away disgusted, upon learning that he who called is a stranger in captivity. Before the car conductors and motormen became acquainted with this impersonator of the feathered kingdom, they would stop a car in response to his whistle believing that some one desirous of catching the car, was whistling. So wonderful is his ability that he can imitate the hateful buzz of the mosquito. Those who he knows he calls by name and he tells strangers to "go along."

FOUR LIVES LOST

Canoe Upset and the Occupants Drowned

NEWPORT, Vt., June 25.—Through the overturning of a canoe in which they were enjoying an outing on Lake Memphremagog late yesterday, four young persons were drowned. The victims were:

FRED PAQUIN, aged 25 years.
CORA PAQUIN, wife of Fred.
ETHEL PAQUIN, sister of Fred.
GEORGE DAILEY.

The young men were clerks employed in stores in Newport and were fairly well accustomed to handling a canoe. Although the canoe was in plain view of the shore and of occupants of other boats most of the time, no one seems to have actually witnessed the overturning of the craft, and the exact cause will probably remain a mystery.

When last seen the canoe was between Horseneck Island and Lindsay's beach and was going swiftly through the water, driven by the strokes of the two men who were paddling.

It was only a few minutes later that the canoe was discovered overturned close to Horseneck Island.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Police Hunted Man for a Year

PATERSON, N. J., June 25.—The police arrested here last night, on a charge of importing girls from Italy for immoral purposes, Antonio Sorianello, for whom they claim they have been searching more than a year and who they say is wanted by the authorities of New Haven, Bridgeport, Middletown and several other cities. The police charge that Sorianello has a series of houses scattered throughout the eastern states. His arrest last night followed the discovery by the police of a young woman on the street in a pitiable condition. At the house where the arrest occurred another young woman was found and both were held as witnesses against the man. The girl found on the street bore evidence of having been beaten severely. She declared she had escaped from the house by dropping out of a window. In her room the police say they found a loaded cane, to which a few long hairs yet adhere, a poker with blood stains near the end, and a heavy stove lifter, all of which the girl declares were used in the assaults upon her because her week's earnings had not satisfied the man.

Sorianello is held without bail on five charges, two for assault, one for keeping a disorderly house and two for importing girls for immoral purposes.

YELLOW FEVER

ONE CASE REPORTED AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—One case of yellow fever was reported yesterday at the Mississippi river quarantine station 97 miles below New Orleans. This is the first case of yellow fever reported in Louisiana this year by the state board of health. The patient is a Cuban sailor who arrived at quarantine on June 18, on the steamer Holstein, from Havana. His temperature being above normal, he was taken off the steamer and detained for observation. Last night physicians decided that the case is yellow fever. The Holstein is still detained at quarantine.

STRIKE BREAKERS

Engaged in a General Fight

LYNN, June 25.—With empty bottles flying through the air and sounds of blows coming from the direction of the barracks occupied by the strikebreakers brought to this city to fill the places of the striking machinists, the residents of Buffum street thought there was a general fight in progress yesterday morning.

Shortly before 9 one of the inmates of the barracks, said to be a guard, started an argument, which was soon participated in by all hands. The guard is reported to have been roughly treated by the strike-breakers.

The trouble lasted near half an hour, and while it was in progress bottles were thrown through a window in the kitchen. A woman who conducts a lodging house next door became so frightened that she sought protection at the home of a neighbor. She said five of her boarders left last week, two more yesterday and two this morning, all saying they could not live in a place where their lives were in danger.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL.

The class gift to the school was a cast of an equestrian statue of Paul Revere. The class also presented to the school a picture of the grand canal, Venice, in memory of Sherman Hanchett, a former member of the class.

In the upper corridor were displayed the following pictures, purchased with the proceeds of the Bicknell lecture given for the benefit of the school last April: "Oxen Ploughing," Bonheur; "Spring," Mauve; "The Fog Warning," Homer; "The Broken Pitcher," Greuze; "On the River Bank," Lerolle; "Landscape with Windmill," Ruysdael; "Capitol at Washington;" "Arch of Constantine."

BOAT OVERTURNED.

CLINTON, Mass., June 25.—After rocking a boat to scare a 12-year-old girl in a boat with two other men, Calsar Manilla tipped the craft over yesterday and was drowned. The girl was saved by Thomas Moran.

FIRED REVOLVER

People in Auto Had Narrow Escape

DARIEN, Conn., June 25.—A large touring car containing five men were fired on, it is said, by a special officer, as the car was going through Darien last night. It is claimed that the machine was going at a good speed, but not exceeding the limit, and that when the party had reached a certain spot in the road Special Officer Martin F. Oppmeir stepped forward, waved a red flag and called on the car to stop. This the driver did not do at once, but as he was preparing to slow down, it is claimed, the special officer drew a revolver and began firing at the car. The driver then put on all speed and did not stop until Norwalk was reached. There it was found that three bullets had pierced the lower part of the car and that one ball had struck the gasolene tank. The automobiles refused to give their names, but it is believed the party came from New Jersey.

BOY IS DYING

HE WAS SHOT BY A DRUNKEN MAN.

BOSTON, June 25.—A bright, enterprising Italian boy of 15, the main support of his mother, brother and six young sisters, is dying at the City hospital relief station from a revolver shot, fired into his back last evening in the North End by a drunken man, who had tried to pick a fuss with the boy and three companions.

The boy is Michele Benincasa and he lives at 161 North street. The man who shot him was captured and disarmed while he was chasing one of the injured lad's companions. He was locked up at the Hanover street station under the name of Vincenzo Capparella. He gave his age as 25, and said he lived at 270 Pearl street, Newton. The charge against him is assault with a loaded revolver with intent to kill.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Why should not the high priced car be made to measure, so to speak, is a query that will naturally suggest itself when other things upon which large sums are expended are taken into consideration, says the Motor World. Steam yachts are almost invariably built to the owner's specifications, as are houses and a host of other things that are constructed to conform to the personal taste of their purchasers. Then why should the man who pays $7000 or more for an automobile not have it built to measure, for if he is to drive it the length of his reach is of as much importance in operating the clutch and brake pedals as it is that his trousers should be the proper length. Natural limitations confine the space to be devoted to the various pedals, levers and steering wheel to a small area; but, like the inch on the end of a man's nose, it is likewise a place where a very little difference is strikingly apparent. The manufacturer has perforce had to strike an average, and it is evident that this will be equally uncomfortable for the man who is unusually short or unusually tall. In other cases the placing of the means of operation has had to conform itself to the remainder of the design of the car and is cramped at the best. Individual taste is always consulted in the matter of finishing the body and fittings of such cars, so there seems to be no good reason why the man who is buying such a vehicle and intends to drive it should not be fitted. A difference of an inch or two in the height or placing of the driving seat or of the pedals and levers with reference to it make for comfort on the long run. In a case where the amount of fitting necessary would be out of the usual it seems it would also be necessary to hire a chauffeur to fit the car. The question may appear purely academic and needless, but as the bodies of high priced cars are almost invariably built to order it would be easy enough to make them to measure at the same time.

It developed yesterday that two Maxwell cars are under construction for the American team in the Vanderbilt cup race next October. One of these cars will be something of a revolution in that it will be driven by a twelve cylinder engine, made up of six sets of horizontal opposed cylinders. It will have two speeds, forward and a reverse, with a direct drive. It will be geared to travel thirty-five miles an hour on the low speed and at 1200 revolutions a minute will be geared for 120 miles an hour on the high speed. It will have approximately double the cylinder capacity of the Darracq racer with which Demogeot won the two miles a minute race at Ormond Beach in Florida last winter. The other racer will have an eight cylinder engine, made by coupling two regular four cylinder motors together, each motor developing 25 horse-power. This car will be geared to do seventy miles an hour easily. Whichever one of the cars that makes the best showing when they are tried out will be driven by a well known amateur automobilist whose name will not be made public for some time.

Charles J. Glidden of Lowell, the globe girdling automobile tourist who donated the touring trophy bearing his name to the American Automobile association, is expected to arrive in this city July 1. He has written from the Grand Hotel at Yokohama, Japan, that the steamer upon which he was travelling was quarantined at Yokohama for ten days on account of a case of plague on board, consequently he will not be here this week as he intended. He states that he has travelled 1122 miles over Japanese roads, but found them disappointing, as they are too narrow and their surfaces are not adapted for automobiles having been built for jinrikisha men and not motor cars. Mr. Glidden has entered the third annual tour of the American Automobile Association, and will join the party at Buffalo and travel to Bretton Woods, accompanying the contestants for the second annual competition for the trophy he donated.

Webb Jay, who made a mile in 48 4-5 seconds last Fourth of July at the Morris Park track in his White steam racer, has entered the third annual tour of the American Automobile Association, and No. 19 has been assigned to him. He enters as a member of the Chicago Automobile Club, and will drive his own 15 horsepower White touring car from Buffalo to Bretton Woods in competition for the Glidden trophy. There will be four in his party. Entry No. 20 came from Elbert Milton Wiley of the New York Yacht Club, whose 24-30 Clement Bayard will be driven from Buffalo to Bretton Woods by his chauffeur, John O. Hofbauer. Mr. Wiley enters as a member of the A. A. A. and his car will compete for the Glidden trophy, carrying five passengers. Mr. Wiley's entry is the first imported car to be named as a contestant for the Glidden trophy, as Mr. Glidden's Napier will not be a contestant.

GLIDDEN ARRIVES

Lowell Man at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 25.—Steamship Siberia arrived today from Hongkong and Japanese ports 16 days from Yokohama, after a pleasant voyage, except the last 36 hours, which was rough. The steamship, with passengers, was detained at quarantine at Yokohama 10 days on account of a case of the plague among the crew.

The passengers from India report the plague epidemic with 16,000 deaths weekly, and the same condition prevails to a considerable extent at a number of Asiatic ports.

Among the passengers were Sir Ernest Satow, eight years British minister to China; Hon. Huntington Wilson, charge d'affaires at Tokio, who is en route to Washington to become third assistant secretary of state; Geo. Lynch, war correspondent of the London Chronicle, who was with the second Japanese army; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown of Lowell, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Glidden of Boston, who have been making an auto tour of the world.

Mr. Glidden was amazed at the damage done by earthquake and fire here, and said last night that all of the world's ruins did not equal San Francisco's.

FOREIGN COMMERCE

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OUR TRADE.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Analysis of the foreign commerce of the United States recently presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, have included discussions of trade relations with each of the principal countries, and an analysis of these analyses presents some interesting general facts about our trade relations with each of the great divisions of the world, whether geographic or climatic. This final analysis shows that in the fiscal year 1905 15.4 per cent. of the imports into the United States was drawn from Europe, 20.3 per cent. from North America 13.8 per cent. from South America, 31 per cent. from Asia, 2.3 per cent. from Oceania and 1 per cent from Africa. Of the exports from the United States in the same year, 67.2 per cent. went to Europe, 17.2 per cent. to North America, 5 per cent. to South America, 5.3 per cent. to Asia, 2.2 per cent. to Oceania and 1.2 per cent. to Africa.

A comparison with the figures of earlier years shows a gradual decline in the share of our imports supplied by Europe and in the share which Europe takes of our exports. In 1895 Europe supplied 51 per cent. of our total imports, the share ranging downward to 48 per cent. in 1905, and of the exports, the share taken by Europe range downward from [illegible] per cent. in 1885 to 67 per cent. in 1905. This reduction in the percentage which Europe holds in the trade of the United States is largely due to the enlargement of our trade with the orient. The imports from Asia which formed but 5 per cent. of the total in 1875 and 8½ per cent. in 1885 formed 16½ per cent. in 1905, and our exports to Asia, which amounted to but 2 per cent. of the total in 1875 and 2½ per cent. in 1885, were 8½ per cent. in 1905.

Comparative values of imports from the grand divisions in 1905 with those of a decade earlier, it may be said that our imports from Europe have grown from 381 millions in 1895 to 541 millions in 1905, and seem likely to exceed 600 millions in the present year. The imports from No. America have grown from 231 millions in 1895 to 227 millions in 1905 and in 1906 will slightly exceed those of 1905. From South America the imports have grown from 112 millions in 1895 to 151 millions in 1905; but in 1906 will fall about 11 millions below those of 1905, chiefly on account of a reduction in the quantity of coffee and India rubber imported. From Asia the imports have grown from 78 millions in 1895 to 162 millions in 1905, and will aggregate about 175 millions in 1906. From Oceania the imports of 1895 were 12½ million dollars and in 1905 were 25 millions, the figures of 1905, however, do not include merchandise from the Hawaiian Islands, amounting to 36 million dollars, while the figures of 1895 include merchandise imported from the Hawaiian Islands the growth in imports from Oceania having been more rapid proportionately than from any other section of the world. From Africa imports have grown from 7 millions in 1895 to a little over 11 millions in 1905.

On the export side the total to Europe has grown from 628 millions in 1895 to 1,021 millions in 1905 and seems likely to be nearly or quite 1,200 millions in 1906, or an average of 100 millions a month, since the figures of ten months indicate an average of about 101 millions. To North America the exports have grown from 108½ million dollars in 1895 to 260½ millions in 1905, and seem likely to aggregate about 300 millions in the fiscal year 1906. To South America the exports have grown from 33½ millions in 1895 to 57 millions in 1905, and seem likely to be about 70 millions in 1906. To Asia the exports have grown from 17 1-3 millions in 1895 to 128½ millions in 1905, but for 1906 will fall slightly below the figures of 1905 by reason of the abnormally large exports to China in that year. To Oceania the exports of 1895 were 13 millions and in 1905 33 millions, and this latter figure does not include the 12 million dollars' worth of merchandise sent to Hawaii in 1905, though the figures of 1895 include the exports thereto. To Africa the exports in 1895 were 7 million dollars and in 1905 18½ millions.

Thus it appears that imports from Europe increased a little more than one-half in the period from 1895 to 1905; from North America nearly doubled; from South America showed but slight increase; from Asia practically doubled; from Oceania, including Hawaii, trebled, and from Africa increased about one-half. On the other hand, exports to Europe nearly doubled in the period from 1895 to 1906; to North America nearly trebled; to South America more than doubled; to Oceania more than trebled, if we include the trade with Hawaii; to Africa more than doubled, and to Asia in 1905 were seven times as great as in 1895.

Manufactures supply the largest part of the imports from Europe, and agricultural products, copper, mineral oil, leather and iron and steel supply the largest part of the exports thereto. The bulk of the North American imports are sugar from Cuba; coffee, sisal, fruits, copper and lead from Mexico, Central America, and the West Indian Islands; timber, lumber, fish, and nickel ore from Canada; the exports to North American countries are chiefly manufactures, also meats, flour, and other food stuffs to those at the south. From South America the imports consist chiefly of coffee, india rubber, wool, hides and skins, while the exports thereto consist chiefly of manufactures and certain lines of food stuffs. From Asia the imports consist chiefly of tea, coffee, raw silk, fibers, wool, pig tin and wrapper tobacco, and the exports to Asia consist largely of cotton cloths, mineral oil, copper, and miscellaneous manufactures. From Oceania the imports are are chiefly tropical and subtropical ports thereto chiefly manufactures and food stuffs. From Africa the imports are chiefly tropical and subtropical products and the exports thereto chiefly manufactures.

Of manufactures, the exports for the fiscal year 1906 will be about 600 million dollars, of which about 270 millions go to Europe, the large proportion of the manufactures sent being copper, mineral oils, manufactures of iron and steel, boots and shoes, and scientific instruments. Exports of manufactures from the U. S. have grown from 183½ millions in 1895 to about 600 millions in 1906, and the share which manufactures form of the exports, from 18 per cent. in 1899 and 23 per cent. in 1895 to about 34 per cent. in 1906.

The sections in which the exports of the United States make least progress are within the tropics. The countries having a tropical or subtropical climate imported in the latest available year about 1,700 million dollars' worth of merchandise and took but 260 millions of that amount from the United States, as against 470 millions from the United Kingdom, the world's great exporter of manufactures. Tropical America imported 460 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied 151 millions, or 33 per cent. Tropical Asia imported about 800 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied but 20 millions, or 2½ per cent. Tropical Africa and Oceania imported 400 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied but 30 millions, or 7½ per cent. Of the imports of the entire tropical world the United States supplied 12 per cent, and the United Kingdom over 28 per cent.

INVESTIGATE

THE EVIDENCE IS BEFORE YOU—WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH IT

An Open Letter From Dr. Temple

During the past 13 years I have enjoyed exceptional advantages in nearly every clime in the study and observation of Chronic Diseases and have embraced my opportunities to thoroughly test my method of treatment, the combination of vegetable agents (roots, herbs, barks, etc.) which in clinical value and effect in the indicated range of use has no equal in my way of thinking, as in everything results count.

I have never asked a skeptical and criticising public to believe what appears to be unreasonable claims nor do I make any claims but what have been verified by living testimonials.

That by my advanced method of treatment cures have been made right here in Lowell which have baffled the skill of other practitioners.

The treatment has been put to severe tests because all patients coming to me, never come till they have exhausted all other resources. I know now after years of experience that I could save many a man or woman years of suffering and hundreds of dollars, if they would but consult me in the beginning.

What has cured others will cure you, because you are of the same physical construction, subject to the same laws of nature and suffering from the same causes as others. I want all those who are sick and suffering to throw aside all prejudice simply because I advertise in the columns of this paper, and look the thing square in the face.

It is all right to listen to the advice of friends and doctors who are always willing to give advice and nothing else, but when they fail to give you relief and you have to live on condolences then it is time you investigate something new.

To those who are interested let me say investigate, prove to your own satisfaction. I have testimonials of Lowell's representative people who will allow me to use their names if I am so disposed to have them inserted here in this open letter. They are by word of mouth sending to me their friends, which to me is worth columns of paid advertisements.

It is often asked, do you cure every patient that takes treatment or is everybody curable. In answer to this question. Many people who have suffered for years come to me for advice and treatment who only take a week or two treatment and expect me, with my treatment, to do more for them than nature herself can do in the same length of time. Disease becomes incurable only by neglect or improper treatment and if patients would doctor one-third of the length of the time they have been afflicted nearly every case could be cured.

F. S. TEMPLE, M. D., Specialist.

DR. TEMPLE and associates will give consultation during the balance of June, free of charge. All those who are sick are invited to take advantage of this offer and learn their true physical condition.

If you are afflicted with catarrh of the head, nose and throat, catarrh of the stomach, consumption in the first stages, bronchitis or asthma, rheumatism, diseases of the liver and kidneys and bladder, headaches or backache, habitual constipation, disease of the blood or skin, acute or chronic ills of men, such as nervous debility, gleet, strictures, prostatitis or inflamed discharge of the ear, eye, nose or otherwise, see them before going elsewhere. All medicine furnished patients; privacy is thus assured.

You can consult with Dr. Temple and associates—Free of Charge—at their office, 97 Central Street, Mansur Block, every day, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; evenings, 7 to 8. Sundays, 10 a.m. to 12. The price for treatment and medicine is within the reach of all, paying as able.

Americans Attacked by Chinese Robbers

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Dr. A. B. Beattie, an American missionary who arrived here yesterday on the steamer Siberia had an experience with Chinese robbers shortly before he left Canton, where he has been stationed for years. Dr. Beattie's residence was in the heart of the city. Anchored in the river within less than 200 yards from his house was the United States monitor Monadnock. Patrolling the streets were native policemen who frequently passed the house. One night Dr. Beattie, his wife and children were suddenly awakened to find the house in possession of 30 robbers. Every member of the family was gagged and bound to a bed post. The burglars then stripped the house of everything of value. Despite the fact that a United States warship was lying so close to the house and the police patrols were passing at frequent intervals, the robbers escaped with their loot. The Chinese government promised reparation, but up to the time he left Canton, Dr. Beattie had received nothing but apologies.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

Eloquent Plea by Rev. Louis S. Walsh

Graduating Class of St. Michael's School Received Diplomas in St. Michael's Church Last Night —Solemn Vespers Celebrated Followed by Solemn Benediction —Diplomas Presented by Rev. John J. Shaw

A departure from the usual commencement exercises was made at St. Michael's school this year and instead of the program given by the pupils in former years there was a church service held in St. Michael's church last evening with a sermon by Rev. Louis S. Walsh, director of parochial schools in the archdiocese of Boston. A large congregation was present in the church when the priests and altar boys marched from the vestry to the sanctuary. Solemn high vespers were sung, the celebrant being Rev. John J. Shaw, Rev. E. A. Carney, deacon, Rev. Francis J. Mullin, S. T. L., subdeacon, and Rev. Denis Murphy, master of ceremonies. The choir, directed by Mr. James A. Murphy, sang Est vesperes and the Veni Creator was rendered by Mr. Murphy. The sermon delivered by Rev. Fr. Walsh dwelt mainly with religion in the school and the preacher showed a most intimate knowledge of educational matters and the work of the schools in this section of the country.

Prior to delivering the sermon Rev. Fr. Walsh took occasion to congratulate Rev. Fr. Shaw, the priests of the parish and the sisters in charge of the school on the excellent standing attained by St. Michael's school and he said he is also gratified at the great interest shown in the school by the people of the parish.

Rev. Fr. Walsh took as his text: "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul," Matthew xvi, 26.

He said in part:

"God made man to know him, to love him, to serve him in this world, and to be happy with him forever in the next.

"This great text from the Holy Gospel, and simple catechetical answer to why man was created, must ever be the cornerstone of every Christian life that is to withstand the storms of this world and persevere unto the end to fill its divine destiny. It is well to recall them frequently. It is well to place them clearly before our minds in fixing the aims of life.

"The church is like an experienced guide in a perilous country. She knows the mental and moral worlds most thoroughly, the mental and moral topography. She has nurtured monarchies, empires and republics, all equally great yet doomed to perish; she has educated races immeasurable from barbarism to a proud, glorious civilization reaching the highest summits of mental power, moral virtue and devoted family or social ideals, and she has seen many rise and some fall. Is it not folly to forego, to cast away, aye to rebuke such a guide?

"She speaks to our noble republic, that she loves so well; warns the great American people of their awful error, and bids her beware of the certain wreck and ruin that must come from her refusal to admit God and our Lord within the school rooms of her rising generations.

"Even if her gentle voice and sympathetic hand were not raised in warning, the result of the non-religious (sometimes called non-sectarian) system of elementary education has been tried and measured and weighed, and, I say it openly, has been found wanting.

STRIDES TOWARD PAGANISM

"It was conceived and brought forth and nurtured into mature life in our own state of Massachusetts, and has been adopted more or less in every state of the union, for there is no national system of education, and each state is free to make its own.

"Massachusetts was founded by men who believed in religious and moral training as the corner-stone, the golden inscription over the doorway and the invigorating spirit of all education from the cradle to the university. For 200 years no one dared to even dream of any other as possible or fitting. The Puritan and Pilgrim deserve credit for giving to our noble state such a foundation, but they were not the originators of the idea, for it was one of the many fine ideals that they brought over from old Catholic England. Hence it was and is a Catholic idea.

"The non-religious, or so-called, but misnamed, non-sectarian, system was adopted about 70 years ago. Two or more generations have been educated under it, and with what results?

"If we put the Catholics apart in a group by themselves, the people, men especially, of the state and country are no longer a church-going people, more than one-half of the children never go to church or Sunday school, unless there be a minstrel show or candy distribution; the disintegration of the home is going on rapidly, because God is not consulted or present at the marriage; God's laws are ignored or spurned in those obligations of married people to create and build up a home; divorce scandals are so numerous as hardly to excite passing comment, except for sensational details. Where and when do legislators now consult the rights of God and of religion, in making the capital laws of the land, unless the vision of adverse votes of constituents stirs their selfish interests? Is the Christian idea of Sunday not fast disappearing from the minds of people who worship the newspapers, or some pleasure resort?

"Two more generations of such education and this land will have made long strides towards pagan and irreligious ideas, for it will have developed an individual conscience without God, homes without God, hence very soon a civilization without God, which means paganism for the rich and socialism for the poor, with a war of extermination between both.

CHURCH HOLDS TO IDEALS.

"But no, I am mistaken, there is good reason to believe that such will not be the case, and herein we will see a third reason why this schoolhouse and others like it all over the state must be maintained. It will be a silent, yet most active, eloquent fact and argument to our fellow citizens and state, whose watchwords are justice and truth, and upon whose shield we wish to see forever those imperishable words:

"The Catholic church, by holding fast to its ideal, ever old and always true, will teach our state, perhaps several, to do justice to religion in elementary education, as it has so nobly done for the branches of secular science, arts, industries and social betterment. No one, with any sense of justice or reason can fail to admire the magnificent devotion to education, manifest in Massachusetts, but that very devotion only makes the injustice more striking and to be regretted.

"A law compelling every child to be educated so as to be able to earn a living and fulfill the duties of citizenship is on the statute book, and that, if applied reasonably, is right, for the parent refusing to give the child such a birthright, deserves the coercion of the law. On the other hand the state establishes a system of education, that violates, at the present hour, the rights of conscience of $1,500,000 of the people, gets up a gigantic monopoly for developing the child mind and heart without God, without regard to the parent's religious convictions, without any Christian moral training, worthy of the name, and then blandly says to these citizens and parents, take this or nothing from our hands.

"There is, there can be no more righteous even if unpopular, cause than the idea of religious education, and somewhere present will live to share in its triumph by a state law or by local option."

At the conclusion of the sermon Rev. Fr. Shaw attended by the other clergymen, walked to the center of the sanctuary and addressing the congregation said that thirteen of the pupils had completed the required course of studies in the parish school and had won graduation honors. He called the names of the seven girls and six boys and to each handed a diploma. The graduates are: Mary Josephine Sorenson, Margaret Mary Martin, Margaret Beatrice Gilligen, Mary Aloysius Cawley, Mary Elizabeth Kilroy, Lillian Anastasia O'Connor, Annie Cahill, Leo Joseph Sherlock, Edward Michael Ryan, John Joseph Smith, William Basil Raney, Martin Stanislaus Cordingly, Edward Patrick Farrell.

Mr. Thomas R. Boulger then sang Dudley Buck's "Salve Regina," a fine baritone solo to which Mr. Boulger did full justice. Solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given during which Guilmant's "Ave Verum" for soprano and contralto was given by Mrs. James A. Murphy and Miss Nano Gallagher, both of whom were in beautiful voice and sang with great feeling and effect.

The "Tantum Ergo" was sung by the chorus and the service closed with the singing of the hymn, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Yesterday afternoon hundreds of persons inspected the display of the work of the pupils of the school. The exhibit was held in the school hall and in several of the school rooms. There were shown penmanship, drawing, sewing, pasting and basket work and the display was most creditable and showed the careful training received by the young people.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

At St. Patrick's church, yesterday, Rev. John J. McHugh in asking the parishioners to patronize the lawn party of the Ladies' Aid society of the parish which will be held at the residence of John F. Saunders, in Fletcher street near Pawtucket, gave a review of some of the work of this society which made a deep impression and undoubtedly will result in a large sale of tickets. Fr. McHugh said in the course of his remarks: "The Ladies' Aid society of this parish is an organization of the women of the parish who mindful of the scriptural injunctions: 'The poor ye have always with ye,' and 'Feed my lambs' have come together for the purpose of assisting the poor and needy of this parish. They have gone about in an untiring yet unostentatious manner visiting the homes and bringing food, clothing, medical attendance and comfort generally. In every corner of our parish the poor are to be found and there are many, too many, on the public pauper list of our city. It is the duty of the parish to see to it that as few of our members as possible are on the city's pauper list, for what is the parish after all but one great family. Even the city cannot support some of these families. They give $3 orders but every housekeeper knows how far a $3 order of fuel and provisions will go for instance in a family consisting of a mother and six small children, one of the cases now being aided by the society. At first communion today many of the children who received the sacrament were clothed for the occasion from head to foot by the ladies of the society. Another particularly sad case is that of a destitute deaf and dumb boy. During the school season he has been away at school where his tuition was paid by the society. Now school is closed and the boy was obliged to return to Lowell, homeless and penniless. The Ladies' Aid society has stepped in and is paying the boy's board at a good home until such time as he shall return to school. These are but a few of the many cases that are being cared for by this grand society, and when winter comes on the number will increase. To continue this noble work funds are absolutely necessary and for that reason this lawn party is being helped. If every one in St. Patrick's parish will only help just a little the aggregate will be most encouraging, and your charity will not go unnoticed by Him who marketh the sparrow's fall."

The sacrament of confirmation will be administered by Archbishop O'Connell at St. Patrick's church, this evening, and the graduating exercises at Notre Dame Academy will take place tomorrow morning with the archbishop as the guest of honor.

GIGANTIC PLAN

Standard Oil to Increase Stock

NEW YORK, June 25.—For several days there have been running through Wall street rumors of great changes soon to come in the organization of the Standard Oil company. Gradually these rumors have taken definite form, until they purport to give in detail a plan already decided upon for a vast readjustment of the company's financial structure, involving the issue of hundreds of millions of dollars in stock beyond the present $100,000,000 and the complete abandonment of the secrecy regarding earnings, expenses and other matters which has for so long been the company's avowed policy.

Rumors of this kind regarding Standard Oil are the more readily believed in the street because it is taken for granted that the company's intentions will be learned with certainty only when the thing being already practically accomplished, an official statement issues from 26 Broadway, and in this case the information purported to have come from very close to the inner circles and events at Washington seemed to make it quite probable.

Briefly told, the Standard's new plan of reform, as Wall street heard it, called for an immediate increase in the capital stock from $100,000,000 to $600,000,000, the listing of its shares on the stock exchange, and the publication of regular financia lstatements regarding its condition, such as are required by the stock exchange from all corporations whose shares are in its lists, and such as are freely issued by other great corporations, including the United States Steel corporation.

Of the proposed increase in capital, $350,000,000, equalling a stock dividend of 350 per cent., was said to be planned for issuance to present stockholders, while the remaining $150,000,000 was to be placed in the company's treasury, to be issued from time to time in payment for independent refining properties or oil lands.

STURGIS BILL

CAUSED AN EXPENSE OF $19,613.80.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 25—Announcement was made at the executive department at the state house today that the total expense to date of the enforcement commission, created by the last legislature under the Sturgis bill to see that the prohibitory liquor law was enforced and appointed April 6, 1905, was $19,613.80. This amount includes salaries and expenses of the three commissioners, Waldo Pettengill of Rumford Falls, Norman L. Bassett of Augusta, and Alfred H. Lang of Skowhegan, and the salaries and expenses of the deputies. The state has received from fines and fees, the sum of $2,778.94, leaving a balance of $16,614.80. The appropriation was $7,500 per annum. There are now 21 enforcement commissioners working in five counties, Androscoggin, Kennebec, Knox, Sagahoc and Oxford.

IT'S 110 YEARS OLD

Notable Anniversary of the Pawtucket Church

Knights of Malta at St. Paul's Church—Sermon on Knighthood of Today

The 110th anniversary of the founding of the Pawtucket Congregational church was observed yesterday. The pastor Rev. E. R. Smith, preached a special sermon having for his topic, "Four New England Meeting Houses—What They Signify." At the close of the sermon, which was of a historical nature, pledge cards were distributed and nearly $600 were raised by pledges and cash contributions, exclusive of the contents of the weekly envelopes.

The floral decorations were pink mountain laurel. A chorus of 32 voices under the leadership of Mr. Warren C. Hamblett, Charles H. Hartley, organist, gave excellent renditions of "The Heavens Are Telling" (Haydn), the solo work being well executed by Mrs. W. R. Park. The second choir number was "Jerusalem, My Happy Home" (Lowell Mason.) An orchestra assisted in the music.

Rev. E. R. Smith said in part:

There is virtue in the exercise of memory. We therefore today recall the years long past when our fathers in the faith erected their places of worship in this locality. This special time is chosen to celebrate these four New England meeting houses because, in all probability it is 110 years ago this present year since a church was first ennobled on this spot.

This history of ours begins in connection with the old town of Dracut, settled in 1655 by Samuel Varnum. King Philip's war was then on and this first of the Varnums lost two sons killed by Indians, as they crossed the river from Middlesex Village.

Ten years after its incorporation in 1760, the town of Dracut began to plan for a meeting house. A committee was appointed and a place was selected. This place was "the west end of Flag Meadow Hill," so-called, which is the hill on which the Lowell General hospital stands. Observe the rate of wages prescribed. A man and two yoke of oxen was to have 5s per day. Men who got out timber received 2s. The meeting house was to be 25x30 feet.

In 1715, is the date of the building of this first house; it was dedicated a year later and finished in 1718, which shows the lack of money, push or unity of sentiment.

Meanwhile pending the actual commencement of the work, the town changed its mind on the site, and the location was south of Flag Meadow hill. Probably this was about opposite the lower entrance to the hospital. Some time a tablet ought to be placed there. The Dracut churches and our own might fittingly co-operate in this.

We are interested to read the vote providing for the raising of the house. "It is granted that one barrel hard cider and such a quantity of rum as the trustees shall think needful for the raising of said meeting house.

The Sabba' Day house deserves our notice. It arose from the need of some place where before church and at noon the people might warm themselves. It was a thawing out place. This church had a Sabba' Day or noon house. It probably stood some few rods above the meeting-house on what is now Varnum avenue. In Lexington, we read there was no need of a noon house, for the women and children ate their lunch in tavern parlors, while the men drank flip in the tap-room. Sunday closing was not known in those "good old days," and no police board was needed to inspect the facilities for providing meals with drinks."

The preacher made a long historical review of the church's life and coming down to the present, said:

"The new social conditions demand that the churches cultivate the life of fraternalism. When such great work is to be done for the multitudes in this new age, there is no time to waste in divisions among ourselves.

"This church of ours symbolizes in its architecture the new spirit. The auditorium is but one of the many rooms. There is the provision for religious instruction. There is opportunity for social intercourse. There are possibilities in the adaptation of this building to yet more varied forms of service for this community. There is also that in our location which suggests other thoughts. To the east of us is a splendid textile school. West of us on the very hill which once looked down upon that little first church stands a noble hospital. In these two directions is modern emphasis being laid—on training for efficiency; on philanthropy. This church is midway between, symbolizing the truth that efficiency in doing the world's work and philanthropy alike need the spirit of religion. Unless the efficient man be a man of faith, his efficiency may lead to an abuse of power. Unless philanthropy be grounded in religion, it has no deep, permanent foundation.

"A wonderful live for humanity pervades the hospital; a wonderful devotion to truth, the school. As a church, we must foster the love of God because it gives the only assurance of abiding love for men. As a church, we must give truth-lovers in the school reason to believe that we welcome truth in religion. We are to inspire men to consecrate their powers to the service of men.

"Here is the mission and meaning of the modern church service—inspiration. If we believe it and are true to this mission, the centuries to come shall look down upon yet nobler churches, the successors of these four in which we have endeavored to bear witness to the kingdom of God."

KNIGHTHOOD OF TODAY.

The members of Lowell Commandery, Knights of Malta, in observance of St. John's day, attended the evening services at St. Paul's M. E. church, yesterday. The members assembled at Odd Fellows' Temple and marched in a body to the church.

Rev. George B. Dean preached a sermon upon "The Knighthood of Today." There was special music by the choir.

The preacher said he was impressed with the religious spirit that pervades the order of Knights of Malta, and in closing, said:

"May God bless your order still more abundantly in the future, and may its history yet to be written, be even more splendid than any that gifted historian or inspired seer has yet recorded. "In Hoc Signo Vinces"—never lower that standard, never carry back these colors, but with them ever in the foreground continue to wage warfare upon sin and selfishness, infidelity and religious intolerance, till the world is redeemed and your order be victorious; till the hospitalers of St. John shall all dwell in that land pictured for us by the Apostle himself, where hospitals are unknown; till you shall reach that Holy City where no infidel ever goes and can never harrass the pilgrim who seeks its shrines; till you enter that New Jerusalem which the earthly Jerusalem only prefigures; till your chivalry, fraternity and religion shall be swallowed up in everlasting life, and your deeds done of the body shall be rewarded with eternal glory.

UNIONS PRODUCTS

To be Shown at the Exposition

CHICAGO, June 25.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, sent representatives to Chicago yesterday to arrange for a union exposition. The object of the fair is to celebrate the achievements of organized labor throughout the world and especially in the United States.

Minneapolis tentatively has been selected as the place for holding this novel exposition and it is probable it will take place next November at the same time the convention of the national labor body is in progress in that city.

Max Morris, fourth vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, who is in charge of the preliminary plans, explained that the exploitation of union labor never has been attempted on such a scale as President Gompers has in mind. The aim of Mr. Gompers, he said, is to bring together the products of union workmen in every branch of industry, to illustrate the superiority which is claimed for this class of goods, and also to demonstrate the growth of the union labor movement in the United States since its inception 60 years ago.

Some idea of the character of the projected exposition may be gained by the announcement that two million men, comprising the total membership of the American Federation of Labor, was expected to contribute to its success. Other countries also will be represented. There will be exhibits representing all of the industries in which union labor is interested.

The Cunard Line steamer "Saxonia" sails from East Boston tomorrow for Liverpool and Queenstown having on board the following Lowell people booked through Murphy's steamship agency: Miss Mary M. Kearney, Miss Annie Kearney, Miss Margaret Herson, Miss Helen Herson, Mrs. Sarah Farquarson, Miss Mary Farquarson, Mrs. Jane Downs, Mrs. Henry Spencer, Mrs. Thomas England, Mrs. Elizabeth Spillane, Master John R. Sheehan, Timothy Daly, Mrs. Martha E. Roebuck, Arthur F. Roebuck, Mrs. James R. Tenny and Mr. Henry Curran.

NIGHT EDITION

AT FAIR GROUNDS

Fine Program of Sports Was Carried Out

There were five thousand or more in attendance at the Fair grounds to witness the sports this afternoon. Many followed the parade to the grounds and remained there until the festivities were over. There was a midway in the centre of the oval and peanuts, popcorn, frankforts, ringing the canes, knives and all kinds of freak exhibitions were well patronized by the people.

Shortly after two o'clock Chairman Elzear H. Choquette addressed the gathering and introduced Joseph Dextra as master of ceremonies. At 2.15 o'clock the first heat of the horse race was pulled off and the remainder of the program was as follows:

2.45, first heat of second class horse race; 3, children's race, 10 to 12 years; 3.15, second heat, first class; 3.30, second heat, second class; 4, general race, 100-yard dash; 4.15, third heat, first class; 4.30, fat men's race, 75-yard dash; 5, third heat, second class; 5.15, children's race, 100-yard dash, 13 to 15 years; 5.30, sack race.

These events took place on the outside track, and the military contest was in progress in the inside ring.

CELEBRATION NOTES.

The restaurants did a land office business this noon for a great number of people came from out of town.

The press carriage was a cosmopolitan feature of the parade.

The French people are grateful to the Knights of Columbus for postponing the opening of their circus until tonight so as not to interfere with the celebration.

The man with the appropriate badges and his brother with the corn candy as well as a host of other itinerant venders and fakirs were on hand early and did a thriving business.

Fred Lamoureux, who made a hit as the child St. John Baptiste in the parade held here in 1881, today made another hit as marshal of a division. After the graceful manner in which Fred rode the horse this morning his brother Knights of Columbus will insist that he do an equine act at the circus this week.

Be sure and go to the CIRCUS tonight. Huntington Hall lot, corner Merrimack and Dutton Streets.

Was the Parade in Honor of St. John's Day

Beautiful Floats and Brilliant Regalia Features of the Parade—Over 3000 in Line — The Appearance of So Many Children in Line Made a Great Hit — Elaborate Decorations Along the Route

"Let us be good American citizens, but let us remain always faithful to our faith, our customs and our language."

Such is the excellent rule laid down for the French people of Lowell by their beloved pastor Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., and the grand celebration today in honor of the feast of St. Jean Baptiste, the patronal feast day of the French Catholics is strikingly in accordance with it.

A more beautiful day for an our-door celebration could not be desired and a more beautiful celebration withal has never been witnessed in this city and will long be recalled with keen delight not only by the hundreds who participated in it but by the many thousands who had the pleasure of witnessing it and viewing the lavish and extensive decorations which were to be found in every quarter of the city not alone on the business buildings but on clubs and private residences from the picturesque decorative designs on the mansions of the wealthy to the display of the national colors and the tri-color on the habitations of the poor.

French-Americans from all over New England came to this city to see the celebration and the early trains and electric cars coming to Lowell were packed with visitors. The streets in the vicinity of St. Jean Baptiste church were choked with people long before the hour of starting the parade, while all streets along the line of march were lined with spectators throughout the morning. The Lawrence company closed its doors for the day in honor of the celebration and the others might as well have done so for those who went in to work came out when the hour for the parade arrived.

As early as 6.30 o'clock the merry sound of the drum and the babel of voices along the street, coupled with the clatter of horses' hoofs betokened the elaborateness of what was to follow and the parade when under way was all that was expected of it and even more. Originality of ideas in making the features prevailed throughout and the St. Jean's day parades of 1881 and 1891 were but small affairs compared with the imposing pageant of today. Though one of the largest parades ever seen in Lowell and passing over the longest route of march in history, nevertheless not one company dropped out and the marching bodies looked as well as they entered the Fair grounds after their long walk as they did when with colors gaily waving in the soft breeze and bands playing merrily they left the common on their march at 8.40 o'clock. The formation and route of parade will be found in another column.

THE CHIEF MARSHAL.

Mr. Louis P. Turcotte, chief marshal of the parade, was the cynosure of all eyes and he was the recipient of the congratulating plaudits of the multitude along the line of march. Mr. Turcotte recently met with an accident, breaking his leg and only yesterday left the hospital with a plaster cast on the injured member. But he promised to be in line and he was there in a barouche at the head. Chief of Staff Albert Blazon came in for a great share of applause for during the incapacity of the chief marshal a great share of the work came on his shoulders and the admirable manner in which he carried out his duties was evidenced by the grand success of the parade. Considering the fact that there must have been over 3000 people in the parade moved along without delay and arrived at the Fair Grounds before noon.

Along the line the enthusiasm shown

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

EDWARD B. CARNEY, Treas.

CAN'T SELL FARM

At the last meeting of the board of charities Commissioner Pratt suggested the selling of the city farm as he believed it more advisable to purchase vegetables and other garden truck instead of raising it, but evidently Mr. Pratt overlooked the well plant which makes it impossible to sell the farm owing to the driven well plant being on the grounds. While the board of charities can abandon the farm it would not be possible to sell the land.

The Cook and hydraulic wells are on the farm land while the pipes running from the lower to upper stations are also laid on the land used by the farm, and to sell this land would be out of the question.

STARVING MAN

Fell in a Faint in Middlesex Street Today

John Little, a man 74 years of age, fell from exhaustion in Middlesex street this morning and was removed in the ambulance to the city farm. Mr. Little came here from Nashua; he said that his mission was to seek work and evidently he met with no success for he admitted that he had nothing to eat for several days because he had not the money to buy the food and he did not care to beg.

He was passing along Middlesex street this morning when he was seized with a weak spell and fell to the ground. The ambulance was summoned and he was removed at once to the city farm.

The committee on wires will meet this evening at 8 o'clock and look over the resolutions of the Merrimack Valley Independent Telephone Co. and to transact any other business that comes before it.

Mr. Man

That buys the coal, did it ever occur to you, that to be a successful coalman, in the full sense of the word, you must have practical experience? Let us understand one another. The money that started me in the coal business I earned myself screening, shoveling, and teaming coal right here in your own city; today my trade yards and facilities for handling coal are second to none in this city. I know what coal is, and what coal is not; I know what to buy, and what not to buy; that means my customers do not have to suffer for my mistakes. I do not tell my men, go and do it; I say, come and do it; that means you hire your own foreman in place of the coal-dealer hiring him for you. When you are about to place your coal orders, think this matter over.

has never been equalled in a local parade. At the gaily decorated houses every point of vantage was taken by spectators [illegible] The parade was seen to the best advantage in [illegible] St. Jean Baptiste church [illegible] the great stairway [illegible] was stationed a [illegible] of the [illegible] real [illegible] the [illegible] a number of horses [illegible] In the [illegible] Joseph's parish was [illegible] The float had failed [illegible] who [illegible] the [illegible] upon [illegible] into the [illegible] of the [illegible] with skill.

The United States with 46 of the prettiest French young women of Lowell on it was applauded [illegible]

The [illegible] Carillon, the new banner of Canada, attracted much attention [illegible] people. It was entirely new. It consists of a white cross with [illegible] sacred heart in the centre on a [illegible] of light blue with four large white [illegible] at each corner. The flags carried by the different [illegible] were particularly worthy of note for many of them were beautiful [illegible] evident, comparatively new. L'Union St. Joseph had two handsome flags, one Old Glory and the other the tricolor.

The parade was almost but not exclusively French. One society was headed by the Fifth Regiment drum corps. Irish Volunteers of this city and this particular corps was one of the musical features of the parade. They played [illegible] French and Irish airs while their [illegible] drummer armed with two drum sticks did a club swinging [illegible] along the line of march that made a big hit.

Immediately upon the arrival of the parade at the Fair Grounds the [illegible] in the open was [illegible], an account of which appears in another column.

THE NAPOLEON GUARD

One of the most striking features of the parade was the Napoleon Guard consisting of 40 cavaliers representing the historic grenadiers of 1804, the [illegible] of Napoleon Grande Armee. Riding at the head of the cavalcade and presenting a striking appearance was Joseph Desse representing Napoleon. He was attired in the Napoleonic uniform, a uniform of white with [illegible] black top boots and a dark green [illegible]. Preceding him were two [illegible] bearers and the bugler and immediately following him his staff consisting of: Adolphe Lamontagne, Albert Pelise, Omer Bernard and Arthur [illegible]. The grenadiers wore the tricorn, white trousers, dark blue coats with red and white trimmings, and long black leggings. The men came as follows:

Captain, Octave Lamontagne; first lieutenant, Joseph L. Brunelle; second lieutenant, [illegible] Morin; sergeants, Arthur Ducharme, Romuald Trudeau; corporals, Frank Ducharme, A. SAINT JEAN BAPTISTE.

Vying for beauty and originality [illegible] the float representing the child St. Jean Baptiste.

Master Dewey Archambault impersonated the child St. John, leading the shepherd's staff, clothed with a buffalo robe over his shoulders and with, of course, the traditional beautiful white lamb. This float was one of the most charming in the parade.

THE UNITED STATES.

The 46 states in the Union, represented by 46 attractive girls, robed in white robes, spangled with gilt stars, was an impressive sight. THE FRENCH FLAG.

The young ladies of Centralville had a most attractive feature in a float representing the French flag. There were 36 young women decked out in the national colors, 12 in red at the top of the car, 12 in white below, and 12 in blue at the lower end, the representing a French flag. [illegible] gowns both matched and all waved flags.

The young ladies in the float were: Red: Misses Bella Brousseau, [illegible] Hebert, Marie Collins, Eva Leguin,

YALE'S BIG DAY

Class Day Exercises Were Held

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25. Favored by the most delightful weather which it has been the good fortune of graduating classes to enjoy for many years and with audiences which for numbers exceeded in size any of previous years, the class day exercises of four departments in Yale university were held today. The academic gathering was on the college campus where the program followed that which custom has established, the Sheffield scientific school exercises were at Hillhouse avenue during the forenoon, the law seniors met at Hendrie hall and the medical men at College street hall.

Of the four gatherings the most interest centered in the Hendrie hall gathering which was preceded by a luncheon of the law school alumni at which a number of men of national reputation made short addresses, and the chief address at the class gathering was by Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the department of commerce and labor.

The influx of visitors for the events of commencement week, which set in on Saturday, reached its height by noon today and the expectations that Yale would gather about her the largest body of reunion classes and alumni of other years in her history, was fulfilled. The life of the pictures which were constantly presented on this most beautiful of June days in and around the university buildings was given by the striking costumes of some of the reunion classes and the attractive gowns of many score of young women who were guests of the chief participants in the exercises of the day.

The seniors of the scientific school gathered at Byers' hall and at 11 o'clock, headed by the Second Regiment band, marched to the amphitheatre, under the spreading elms in Hillhouse avenue. Here grouped upon the greensward and surrounded on four sides by tiers of guests, the class pipe was passed while the class histories were read by Douglas Gibbons of New York city. Yale songs interspersed each history, of which there were four written by Edwin Tyler Bynner, of Brooklyn; Theodore Frederic Silkman of Yonkers, New York; John Greenleaf [illegible] of San Antonio, Tex., and Alvin Watkins of Evanston, Ill.

After the exercises the class held a short reception and then dispersed to meet later in the day for the formal reception by the class and the governing board in Byers' hall.

NO BETTING

GOVERNOR HAS HIS EYE ON NEW RACE TRACK.

EXETER, N. H., June 25.—Attorney-General Eastman yesterday received from Governor John McLane a letter calling his attention officially to the opening of Rockingham track at Salem, N. H., this week, and requesting him to see that the laws of New Hampshire against betting are not violated.

The Rockingham track is owned by the New England Breeders' club, of which Andrew Miller is president, and it has been the subject of much agitation in this state because of intentions imputed to the management regarding the regulation of betting. While President Miller has assured the governor that the track will be managed with due regard to the laws of New Hampshire, the governor in his communication to the attorney-general says:

"All forms of betting by individuals or other methods are illegal, and while it is not my purpose to violate the presumption of innocence to which the New England Breeders' club is entitled, I desire that you, the principal law officer of the state, take every precaution to see that our laws are not violated at Rockingham park, and if such violations occur to proceed with vigor to exact adequate punishment for the offence."

SPEAKER CANNON

Told the House to Rush Business

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Speaker Cannon delivered a mild lecture to the house today by stating that in these closing days of the session, more business in hand which could not be done would be transacted than in the three months previous and it was absolutely necessary that close attention be given on the part of members to the business in hand which could not be done unless order be observed.

By unanimous consent, it was decided that the house should sit tonight from 8 until 11 o'clock to consider in committee of the whole, the bill to simplify the law in relation to the collection of revenues. Mr. Payne, of New York, stated that it had been decided to permit political speeches to be made on the above bill.

After an agreement that if the immigration bill be not completed, it shall not lose its privileged character because of the understanding to the revenue bill the house agreed to recess from 6 until 8 o'clock, when general debate will be in order.

WEAVERS SCARCE

Some Unrest is Felt in New Bedford

NEW BEDFORD, June 25.—Despite the fact that the cotton manufacturers of this city have acted upon a five per cent advance in wages to begin next Monday, the situation in some departments of the different cloth mills is just as acute as it was prior to the reception of notice of the action of the manufacturers on Saturday afternoon. While some of the operatives are inclined to insist upon the original demand for 10 per cent others advise more peaceful measures. The weavers are indignant over the failure of the manufacturers to abide to their request for some basis of payment. The [illegible] letter and [illegible] is in a position to say what they will do. Should they decide to accept the proposition of the manufacturers as a whole other departments would be unable to take advantage of the case.

There is a scarcity of weavers in town. This is an open secret and there is such a limited number of so-called "sick" or spare help that a weaver has difficulty in obtaining a day's release. Much depends upon the action of the class of help at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening.

"That the tariff duties, both import and export, imposed by the authorities of the United States or of the provisional military government thereof in the Philippine islands, prior to March 8, 1902, at all ports and places in said islands upon all goods, wares and merchandise imported into said islands from the United States or from foreign countries or exported from said islands are hereby legalized and ratified and the collection of all such duties prior to March 8, 1902, is hereby legalized and ratified and confirmed as fully to all intents and purposes as if the same had by prior act of congress been specifically authorized and directed."

CREW ESCAPED

TWO MASTED FISHING SCHOONER WAS LOST.

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., June 25.—Information of the sinking in 35 feet of water of the coal laden two masted schooner T. A. Stuart, of Calais in Sheepscot river late yesterday was received today. The schooner which sailed from New York in command of Captain Peter Warr, sprung a leak Saturday, 30 miles south of Seguin in a heavy east wind. The crew by working steadily at the pumps managed to keep her afloat and it was believed she would reach Wiscasset her destination, but when eight miles below that town and nearly off Hodgdon's Point the water had gained such headway that she sank. The crew reached shore easily in their boat.

The T. A. Stuart was of 175 gross tons, 165 feet long and was built in 1874 at Machiasport.

COMMUNICATION

Lowell, Mass., June 23, 1906.

To Editor of Sun:

Dear Sir: Will you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words regarding a statement in your paper of plenty of work in the mills and help needed.

Being an operative I am in a position to know the statement by whomever made, is a most false one.

If there is help needed and is hard to get it is for no other reason than that the pay is too small; that the help will not stay though they try the work. And again there are help coming every day to look for work and are turned away not by one but many overseers, telling them they cannot find work enough to keep the help going.

Help are kept in the full hours of the day, but they work only from five to seven.

Help would change round but it is the same in other mills and they know it for they have tried them. This is a true statement.

If you wish to prove it, go into each mill and see the hundreds who are sitting and lying around waiting for work, to get a few hours' work in each day.

FRAUD CHARGED

One Defendant Was Held in $25,000 Bail

LONDON, June 25.—At the opening of the prosecution today in behalf of the treasury at the Guild hall police court in the case of Mark Anthony Young and Henry Jonas, local managers of the American Mining and Smelting syndicate, who were arrested June 18 on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the public by selling valueless shares, R. D. Muir, counsel for the treasury, said the evidence in the hands of the police indicated that serious frauds had been committed. Since January 29, the country had been flooded with flowery advertisements of the American Mining, Milling and Smelting Co., purporting to own mines in Alaska, California, Montana, Utah, Colorado and Mexico which were paying 1½ per cent dividends. Documents announced that the net profits of the company for nine years were upwards of $[illegible], and that dividends totalling $12,500 had been paid. Mr. Muir said he proposed to show that no such company existed.

After the presentation of evidence regarding the printing of circulars the hearing was adjourned. Mark Anthony Young was admitted to bail in $25,000 and Jonas in $5,000.

Congress Has No Power to Regulate It

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Congress has no right to regulate insurance, according to the senate committee on the judiciary. A report from that committee was presented to this effect by Senator Spooner. The report ran as follows:

"The committee on the judiciary beg leave to report that it is the unanimous opinion of the committee that the congress is without authority under the constitution to supervise and regulate the business of marine, fire and life insurance except in the District of Columbia, the territories and the insular possessions of the United States."

The committee promises to give its reasons at a later date. The report went to the calendar.

Triumphal Arch at Corner of Moody and Aiken Streets — Unique Features in Honor of the Day

Almost as beautiful and radiant in colors as the triumphal arch that fills the skies when storms prepare to part, is the arch at the corner of Aiken and Moody streets. Other features of the observation of the day are crowded with beauty, but the supreme effort of the decorator and designer found its climax in the erection of the arch, whose colors are representative of national love and sacred reverence of grand old France and the saint whose name is honored today.

It was almost impossible to approach the arch today so great was the crowd that surged from intersecting streets to view it. The streets on all sides were banked with human faces and exclamations of admiration and delight were heard on all sides. It was a cosmopolitan crowd that stood and admired it today and they expressed in divers tongues, their appreciation of its beauty.

Last night its beauty was set forth even more radiantly by the fire of electric lights. The arch is built of red white and blue bunting and is surmounted with green foliage. It is 24 feet high 56 feet wide, and ten feet deep at the base, narrowing to six at the top. Sun bursts of red, white and blue, cover the side pilasters framed in trimmings of maple branches forming the four corners. A parapet of twelve young maples from the middle of which three large flags, American, French and Carillon banner, wave in the breeze and surmount the arch. The effect is very beautiful. The whole is studded by small flags, 350 in all. The whole top of the construction is outlined with incandescent bulbs and bulbs illuminate the following inscription "Affirmons-nous." The arch will be illuminated again tonight.

Never before in the history of the city have the decorations been more extended, elaborate and beautiful. It was not left to the French-American alone to decorate in honor of the day, but storekeepers and others who cannot boast of French descent have done honor to the occasion. They were inspired by the enthusiastic and whole-souled way in which preparations for the event were carried on. This day's observance will go down as a lasting tribute to the French-Americans of Lowell and the pages of history yet unwritten will tell of the glory and magnificence of the event.

It is in Aiken street, where stands the triumphal arch, that the decorations are most beautiful and most extensive. All manner of decorative adornment known to the hand of the skilled decorator is in evidence. In private houses the beauty of the decorations is their simplicity. The Vincent block is almost completely enshrouded in flags and bunting and the sunkissed colors are strikingly beautiful and attractive.

St. Jean Baptiste church, St. Joseph's college, the rectory and the C. M. A. C. building are rich in their decorations.

With all the brilliancy, however, that colors artistically arranged can afford, it remains the human face, the active pulsation of the human being, to brighten and make complete the beautiful the grandeur of such a scene as this. It was in Pawtucketville on the platform erected by the Club Social that the human face made beautiful and the human voice embellished with song. Forty young girls dressed in white sang patriotic songs as the paraders passed by. The stand was supported by five posts entwined with red, white and blue, and covered with a wide band of the tri-colored, garnished with maple leaves, the emblem of Canada.

The most attractive decoration in West Centralville is a platform, gay with a multitude of flying flags. The platform was erected at a point at the corner of Lilley and Aiken avenues. Fifty-six girls were stationed on the platform and sang as the parade went by.

MASS AT FAIR GROUNDS.

The mass celebrated at the Fair Grounds upon the arrival of the parade was one of most impressive and most unique religious services ever witnessed in Lowell. The Fair Grounds covers a great area but it was packed nevertheless when the service began. Thousands were present and the late comers could hardly get even a glimpse at the altar. Many went to the grounds before the parade arrived and obtained the best positions. The space within the race track where the altar was erected was reserved for the paraders, and at the disbandment of the parade the bands were first grouped about the altar where they played in unison. The military guards who formed a guard of honor around the altar then took their places while the other societies filled in on the outside. The public filled the grand stand and the space outside the race track.

The altar was erected on the grounds last night by Rev. Brother Eugene Demers.

It is placed on a stand 10 feet in height, facing the grand stand. The framework is covered with white cloth, and is ornamented with red, white and blue streamers and a cluster of flags.

At the base is the striking inscription which had been suggested for it by Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., at one of the committee meetings:

"Let us be good American citizens, but let us remain always faithful to our faith, our customs and our language."

The mass was sung by Rev. Fr. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis, and was served by Capt. Xavier Delisle and Lieut. Lazare Boule of the Garde des Saints Anges. The music was given by a chorus of 150 boys from the Brothers' school, and they sang several appropriate hymns.

Considering the great gathering and the attendant tumult and the fact that all were in the open air, the singing was excellent.

At the conclusion of mass Rev. Fr. Lalande, S. J., the noted Canadian pulpit orator and historian, delivered an eloquent sermon, standing on the steps of the altar.

After mass lunch was served and preparations made for the afternoon's sports. The crowd at the Fair Grounds was one of the largest ever seen there.

CELEBRATION NOTES

That parade, "she's a good one."

For originality of design those floats were unbeatable.

It is estimated that over 10,000 people reviewed the parade along the streets.

Never has the city been so generally decorated as it is today. The new flag of Canada was everywhere in evidence while the tri-color was entwined with Old Glory wherever one looked. Between Suffolk and Cabot streets on Merrimack were noticed one Irish, one British and one Greek flag.

None looked more graceful on horseback than did Lucien Turcotte, son of the chief marshal, mounted on a prancing steed. He has been taking lessons from his friend Henry Keyes who is an old time circus rider.

The National band along the line of march rendered a new march entitled, "His Honor" composed by Paul A. Sabean of this city and dedicated to Mayor Casey.

The uniformed bodies from out of town marched with true military grace.

Ex-Councilman Elzie Laporte looked charming in his tall hat presented to him by his old colleague, Ex-Councilman Hugh Flaherty.

The float representing "The United States," with 44 charming young women was certainly one of the prettiest features and caused one to recall Dr. Drummond's celebrated poem, "De Nice Leetle Canadienne," the opening stanza of which runs as follows.

"You can pas on de worl' w'erever you lak,
Tak' de steamboat for go Angleterre,
Tak' car on de State, an den you come back,
An' go all de place, I don't care—
Ma frien' dat's a fack, I know you will say,
W'en you come on dis contree again,
Dere's no girl can touch, wat we see ev'ry day,
De nice leetle Canadienne."

IN FALL RIVER

Great Rejoicing Among the Operatives

AN INCREASE IN WAGES

Will Go Into Effect Next Monday

FALL RIVER, June 25.—When the machinery in the 53 factories owned by 11 corporations started at 6.30 this morning, the last week of the sliding scale arrangement which was counted on by its advocates among the treasurers to prove the panacea for the industrial ills from which Fall River is a chronic sufferer will have been begun. The six days cannot end any too quickly for the 3,000 hands, for on July 2 the scale of wages in force when the reduction was made in July, 1904, will go into effect.

Consequently the national holiday, which is to be celebrated with uncommon energy, will have an unusual significance in that it will marke what everyone is hoping will be the beginning of a new era in the manufacturing history of the city.

The advance will add $28,000 weekly to the pay roll of the city.

Employes of the Fall River Iron Works company will not be affected, for they have been enjoying the boon since the other manufacturers granted an increase of 5 per cent.

Nobody will be surprised if M. C. D. Borden, the owner of that plant, goes a couple of points beyond his competitors whom he likes to harass by bidding against them for help and always successfully. Weavers who now receive 18 cents a cut will be paid 19.8 cents. Other classes will benefit in like proportion, furnishing assurance of a pleasurable summertime for the whole city.

TO NAME SENATORS

Gethro Promises to Make Startling Disclosures

BOSTON, June 25.—Frank J. Gethro, whose confession as to how he bought votes in the Massachusetts legislature has startled the whole state, is ready to hurl another bomb.

He expects that his confession will be made the ground of a summons for him to appear before the bar of the house, and if so called he says he will tell to the house the names of the men whom, he says, he bribed.

Gethro will go further. He has referred to the methods in vogue in the senate, and if called before the bar of the senate he says he will give the names of certain senators whose votes he purchased against the overtime bill, whose sensational defeat by a minority of the senate caused a tempest at the state house.

Gethro's confession is admitted by leading lawyers in the house to be sufficient grounds for a summons before the bar of either the house or the senate. He is prepared for such a summons, and will tell to the house or the senate all the facts in his possession.

This is his answer to the comments of the legislators who have said that there would probably be no further action on the part of the house on account of the fact that the confession did not give any information as to the names of the men whom Gethro says he bribed.

While Gethro will not talk for publication he has made it plain that he only awaits the action of the house to carry his confession to the extreme limit of giving in complete nicety all the details as to the amazing system of bribery in which he places himself as a prominent figure, with a contract to furnish votes for any measure whatsoever.

It was learned last night that this attitude of Gethro would probably bring about some action in the house at its next session, which comes tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. At that time an order will be introduced to reopen the bribery case, and if the order is passed the committee on rules will then be in a position to take whatever action it sees fit regarding the summoning of Gethro before the bar of the house to make good on his confession.

Speaker Cole is frankly of opinion that the entire matter is now up to District Attorney Moran, but the speaker will not go against the will of the house if the body insists upon having all the facts in connection with the bribery scandal cleared up before prorogation. Such a clearing up would be had by a public confession from Gethro upon the floor of the legislature, of which he was only a few days ago a member.

Another explosion is also due over the charges that have been made to the effect that the testimony as given in the hearing room before the committee on rules was not all included in the 26 volumes which appeared as the official evidence in the bribery probe.

This charge will be made the basis of an action by District Attorney Moran, who will proceed against the official stenographers. Thomas W. Lawson has said that Representative Walker of Brookline directed the stenographer not to take down a part of the testimony he was giving before the committee, and the district attorney has learned that part of the testimony of Representative Dowd of Fall River was omitted from the official copies of the evidence, this statement being as to why Mr. Dowd had changed his position from against the midnight liquor bill to for the bill.

Leading members of the house committee on rules are not in favor of reopening the bribery case. If it were a question of bringing in all the witnesses again to question them about the matters mentioned in the Gethro confession. But the willingness of Gethro to come before the bar of the house and give the names of certain members of the legislature in public is a new question.

THEY QUARRELED

Husband And Wife Couldn't Agree

MAN ARRESTED FOR CONTEMPT

He Told Her Not to Go to Court

A very strenuous argument between man and wife was heard in the police court today. The man was James Rea and he was charged with assault and battery on his wife. The assault occurred Friday night at their room in a house at the corner of Worthen and Moody streets. Mrs. Rea said that her husband struck her in the face and that she bled from the nose and mouth. Her testimony was corroborated by two other witnesses. He contended that she was drinking that night. Both have police records for drunkenness. Mrs. Rea told the court that on her way to the Market street building this morning she was accosted by her husband's two brothers, and they told her not to go to court. Mrs. Rea is now on probation and they told her that if she went to court to appear against her husband she would be sent away.

The two brothers in question were in the gallery when she told their story and they immediately proceeded to make their escape. One of them succeeded in escaping but the other was captured and pulled into court.

"Do you not know," said Judge Hadley, "that it is contempt of court to interfere with witnesses who have been summoned to appear?"

"I did not know," replied Rea.

"Well, you know now," said His Honor. "I'll excuse you this time on account of your ignorance, but if you do it again I will send you to jail; remember that."

James Rea was found guilty of assault and battery. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $15 and was ordered in $100 to keep the peace for six months.

The ravings of Mark Doolan were repeated by Deputy Welch and Mark was in the dock. When Mark gets drunk he takes the middle of the road and hollers murder, fire and any other old thing that happens to bounce upon his memory. He cut loose Sunday and was locked up after having disturbed and frightened men, women and children in Dummer street. Today he was sentenced to the state farm and he appealed.

John Eliot was sentenced to two months in jail; Thomas McMann, three months in jail, and Eugene Juessy four months in jail. Mrs. Riley was sentenced to Sherborn. D. J. Mahoney, Simon Graville, Napoleon Laroche, were fined $6 each. James Carr, Michael Foy, John McLaughlin, Stanley Hopp and Timothy J. Shea were fined $5 each. Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

THE ALDERMEN

May Act On Telephone Matter Tomorrow

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and the all important business before the board will be action on the petition for a franchise by the Merrimack Valley Independent Telephone Co.

There is no certainty as to what the board will do on this question. It is certain that an affirmative vote would cause such indignation among business men that an indignation meeting might be called to denounce such action.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Policy Holders Decide to Fight Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 25.—From now on until December one of the most extraordinary campaigns in the history of the country will be waged between the 1,100,000 policy holders of the Mutual Life and the New York Life insurance companies on the one side, and the strongest possible group of Wall street interests on the other.

For several weeks both sides have been preparing for the campaign. The stake is of monumental importance, as it involves control of both the Mutual Life and the New York Life companies, whose combined assets amount to the colossal sum of $900,000,000.

Wall street interests have always been in complete control of the vast savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders, and they do not propose to surrender their grip on such a stupendous money-making power without making a fight of the first magnitude.

The policy holders of the two companies in the United States, Canada and the principal European countries have been quietly organized during the past six weeks by representatives of the international policy holders' committee, under the direction of its counsel, Samuel Untermeyer. As a result of this organization it is expected that a majority of the policy holders of each company will vote at the annual election on Dec. 18 to turn out the J. P. Morgan management, which now controls the New York Life, and the Standard oil management, which is in control of the Mutual Life.

There has been much speculation as to the identity of the men who compose the international policy holders' committee and for the first time their names were announced yesterday. In many respects the committee is the most remarkable body of its kind ever formed, the greatest possible care having been exercised to select only those in whom the public has implicit confidence. Men with Wall street connections or under the domination of the Morgan or Standard Oil interests were carefully avoided.

One of the most notable members of the committee is Cardinal Gibbons, prelate of the Catholic church in America. The fact that Cardinal Gibbons joined the committee is regarded in itself as the strongest possible evidence of the importance he attaches to the matter at issue the safety of the savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders.

An equally notable member is Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, who is probably the leading Baptist clergyman of the United States. He is the founder of the Baptist temple and Temple college at Philadelphia.

The other members of the committee are:

Richard Olney of Massachusetts, attorney general under President Cleveland.

President E. E. Clark of the Order of Railway Conductors.

Governor N. B. Broward of Florida.
Gov. N. C. Blanchard of Louisiana.
Gov. J. Frank Hanley of Indiana.
Gov. J. A. Johnson of Minnesota.
Gov. S. W. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania.
Gov. Henry Roberts of Connecticut.
John C. Hemphill of South Carolina.
Harlow N. Higginbotham of Illinois, partner of the late Marshall Field.
Z. A. Lash, king's counsel of Canada.
Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, son-in-law of President Roosevelt.
Frederick B. Nehringhaus of St. Louis.
Samuel Newhouse, principal mine owner of Utah.
Fremont Older of San Francisco.
Ex-Judge Alton B. Parker.
A. M. Shook of Tennessee.
Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press.
Benjamin F. Tracy, ex-secretary of the navy.
Thomas B. Wannamaker, son of John Wanamaker.
Heinrich Wiegand, representative of the policyholders of the German empire.

By Street Cars in Chicago

MAYOR THREATENS TO ACT

He Wants Leading Officials Indicted

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Record-Herald today says:

[illegible] of the presidents and head [illegible] of the various Chicago traction companies will be sought by Mayor Dunne if [illegible] and satisfactory explanations are not given him concerning the recent fatalities laid at the door of the street railway companies. The mayor announced that he would write an open letter to the traction officials today, presenting to them the report of Dr. Doty, superintendent of street car service, who has notified the city executive that within 30 days twenty-one persons have been killed by cars in Chicago.

Mayor Dunne will ask the companies to affirm or deny them, to explain the charges made by Dr. Doty. He will follow this request with one demanding that the officials acquaint themselves with their street railway equipment, with the conditions of their lines and the existence or nonexistence of proper safe guards and appliances for the protection of their patrons.

When the city executive has received the replies and explanations of the companies he will decide if they are adequate and if there is promise of improved conditions in the future. If he concludes that the people of Chicago are not to be given greater protection he will at once submit the cases to States Attorney Healy and ask that the grand jury return true bills, not only for the employes of the companies who are generally placed under arrest and haled into court, but for the presidents of every company included in his "black list."

O'MEARA'S CLAIM

Says Mayor Interferes With Police

BOSTON, June 25.—Police Commissioner O'Meara issued a statement last evening in which he charged that certain recent acts of the mayor's office were in conflict with the authority of the police commissioner, and had a tendency to impair the discipline among the members of the Boston police force by giving them the idea of a divided authority.

Mr. O'Meara cited three instances of alleged "interference" by the mayor's office.

One related to the Dorchester woman who persisted in collecting garbage under alleged [illegible] method, and whose case, it was reported a few days ago had been settled at a conference in the mayor's office.

Another case was the Tucker meeting in Faneuil hall when the mayor's office announced that any insults offered to Gov. [illegible] by the speakers would result in the stopping of the meeting.

The third case cited was the arrangement reported a day or two ago by which the members of the police force were to be used in certain emergencies to notify families of patients who had died at the city hospital.

MAYOR REPLIES

Mayor Fitzgerald, when the statement of Commissioner O'Meara was called to his attention, said:

"The commissioner's statement is so extraordinary in some respects that I will not attempt to reply to it very much in detail just now.

"That he should think that the mayor's office has any desire or intention to conflict with the authority of the police commissioner is to me almost inexplicable.

"I think Mr. O'Meara rather overstates the case when he says that the acts attributed to the mayor would give the police force of Boston any idea of a divided authority. The men are much too intelligent for that.

"The very instances which you mention as being cited by Mr. O'Meara show that there was ample warrant for action by the mayor's office action, by the way, which did not, and could not, conflict with the authority of the commissioner.

"In the case of the garbage woman the mayor's office simply investigated her claim of having a permit from the city or a contract made with some department. Surely the board of health and the city departments having to do with such matters were not going outside their province in dealing with the woman. As to any legal action against her by the police department, the mayor's office has nothing to do."

LABORER KILLED

Innocent Victim of Street Fight

CHICAGO, June 25.—A feud in the Austrian colony at Thornton, Ill., resulted yesterday in a fight which waged up and down the main street of the town for an hour and ended in the killing of one man and the injury of many others.

Peter Hendricks, a laborer on the town roadway, was the innocent victim of the race war. The man who shot him gave the name of John Stienucz, a laborer in a stone quarry. Edward Goening, night watchman in the quarry works, was probably fatally injured.

The fight started in a saloon, a headquarters of the Austrians employed in the stone works. There had been strife among these men and an outbreak was expected. Goening, it is said, started the immediate trouble by trying to break up a celebration which the Austrians were having in the saloon. Stienucz secured a revolver and led a small band of men down the main street. Crowds of people had gathered and Stienucz began shooting at them. Hendricks was in the front rank of the spectators and fell dead at the first volley.

This so enraged the crowd that an immediate attempt was made to lynch Stienucz. He was surrounded and beaten on the head with beer bottles. When the police rescued him he was unconscious. He and four of the rioters were locked up.

WANTED TO RIDE

SAM SILVERBLATT'S HORSE TAKEN TO NORTH CHELMSFORD.

The Lowell police think that North Chelmsford harbors a horse thief and they insinuate that somebody is going to be arrested.

Saturday night about 11 o'clock a horse and wagon belonging to Samuel Silverblatt, of 129 Howard street, was stolen in Mt. Vernon street. Mr. Silverblatt called at a house and left his horse standing in the street. When he returned the horse was not there.

He reported his loss at police headquarters and at an early hour Sunday morning word was received from the North Chelmsford truant school that a stray horse and wagon was being cared for at the barn of Edward Fallon near by.

Mr. Fallon and his son were awakened during the early hours of yesterday morning by a noise outside their house. In looking out of the window they saw a horse and wagon, with the driver attempting to untangle himself from the barbed wire fence.

When Mr. Fallon shouted an inquiry as to what the matter might be, the driver set off at a run toward North Chelmsford, leaving the horse and wagon behind.

Mr. Silverblatt was notified and later his property was returned to him.

This is the fourth case of a similar nature, which has occurred within recent date. In each instance reported, the thief has driven towards North Chelmsford and then abandoned the horse when near the village.

It is believed that the culprit is a man who got drunk and stayed too late for the last car.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL.

There was a very pretty social at the home of Miss Violet Hobson Friday night when fifty of her friends assembled to greet Mr. Robert McCour who arrived in Lowell from New York. Mr. McCour is now holding a very nice position in New York. There were many musical features including vocal solos. Refreshments were served.

SHOT THROUGH HEART.

DOVER, N. H., June 25.—Capt. Lewis E. Tuttle, commander of the Strafford guards, Co. A, 2d infantry, N. H. N. G., and one of the most popular officers in the national guard, was shot accidentally through the heart and instantly killed by his service revolver Saturday evening, while on his way to the armory to pay off the members of the company for last week's duty in camp.

THREE MAY DIE

Loraine and Cleveland Factions Fight

LORAINE, O., June 25.—A decisive battle was fought here yesterday between several hundred Hungarians from Loraine and Cleveland who were holding a reunion and picnic. The fight started from some unknown cause and the forces of the two cities formed opposing lines and struggled for nearly an hour for supremacy. Beer bottles, clubs, knives and billies were used and when the fight was over it was found several were injured.

Three of the Cleveland crowd were so badly hurt that they are not expected to recover.

MILKMAN HURT

THROWN FROM HIS WAGON THIS MORNING.

Andrew J. Livingston, a milkman residing at 48 Riverside street, was thrown from his wagon early this morning and sustained painful injuries.

Livingston was on his daily round of duty delivering milk and when near the corner of Westford and Wilder streets a little dog rushed out and barked at the horse. The horse jumped to one side and Livingston losing his balance was thrown to the ground.

He was picked up and taken to the home of Dr. Jones nearby and the ambulance summoned after which he was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found he was suffering from a dislocated shoulder, while he had a gash over the right eye.

TWO SHOT

ONE MAN HAS BULLET WOUND IN HEAD.

BOSTON, June 25.—As the result of an altercation with four strangers at Belmont, yesterday afternoon, William Ryan of 77 Beacon street, Arlington, lies in a critical condition at the Waltham hospital, suffering from a severe bullet wound, extending from the left cheek to the back of the head. His brother, Michael Ryan, was also a target for the shooting, but luckily he escaped with only a slight scalp wound. The shooting was heard by residents in the vicinity of Prospect street, who hurried to the scene, where they found Michael Leary of Belmont, another of the party, assisting the wounded men, while their four assailants were making good their escape, aided by the neighboring woods.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. George Frederick Rawnsley and Miss Jennie Wilson were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of Rev. Arthur P. Wedge, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride, 4 Sutherland street, where a reception was held. During the evening there were piano selections and solos by some of their young friends, also selections from a phonograph which was very much enjoyed, the bridal march from Lohengrin being played upon the return of the couple. They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents. Among those who were present at the wedding were friends from New Bedford and Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. George Rawnsley started Sunday morning on their wedding tour and will be at home, 4 Sutherland street, to their many friends, August 1.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Pilgrim Commandery Gone to Haverhill

Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar went to Haverhill early this morning to participate with Haverhill and Newburyport commanderies in a St. John's day observance. Last year the Lawrence commandery was included, but this year that commandery is holding an observance of its own.

Pilgrim commandery, headed by the Lowell Military band, left the temple in Merrimack street at 8.30 o'clock and marched to the Middlesex street station where a train was taken for Haverhill.

On arrival there the three commanderies will go to Canobie Lake park where there will be a banquet and a program of sports. The Lowell commandery will return by train from Haverhill.

The officers of Pilgrim Commandery are: Eminent Sir James Savage, commander; Sir Harry G. Pollard, generalissimo; Sir Frederick W. Farnum, captain-general; Sir Frank B. Sherburne, prelate; Sirs J. C. Blood and Horace S. Bacon, senior and junior wardens; Eminent Sir Harry Dunlap, treasurer; Eminent Sir Herbert C. Taft, recorder; Sir Charles H. Robbins standard bearer; Sir Charles R. Goddard, sword bearer; Sir Arthur D. Prince, warder; Sirs B. W. Clements, E. H. Barker, E. T. Goward, captains of the guard; Sir J. W. Crawford, sentinel and armorer.

MAN RUN OVER

And Injured by Auto on Central Street

Jeremiah Harrington, an elderly man residing at 42 Tyler street, was knocked down and run over by an automobile at the corner of Central and Appleton streets yesterday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock and narrowly escaped being killed. He sustained three cuts, one over the right eye and two at the base of the skull.

He was standing on the curbing at the corner and just as a machine numbered 1326 owned by Dr. Boynton of Sandwich, and occupied by the doctor and a party of friends came along he stepped into the street. Owing to the fact that Mr. Harrington's eyesight is defective he did not notice the approaching machine and the auto struck him a glancing blow and he fell directly in front of the machine.

The machine was traveling at a moderate rate of speed and was brought to a stop just as the front wheels passed over the man's body. It was only after some difficulty that Mr. Harrington was extricated from beneath the machine. He was taken to Pearson's drug store and Dr. Edward M. Murphy, who witnessed the accident, was quickly on the scene and rendered valuable assistance.

Dr. Boynton made known his identity, and together with Dr. Murphy made a careful examination of the injured man, and after it had been ascertained that his injuries were not serious Dr. Boynton rode away after giving his name and address to an officer who was attracted to the scene, and agreeing to pay all doctor's bills which might be incurred.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Sun: A writer in a local paper telling about Billy Hawes' baseball [illegible] made an omission which [illegible] me to butt in. Among other [illegible] he stated that but three of the old Bartletts now live in Lowell. This may be true, but the "Smiler" [illegible] to live in Dracut, and should have been mentioned. Billy Hawes, Geo. Stoughton and Al. Ashworth [illegible] are the Lowell men; but George Staten lives in Dracut and Billy Hawes could no doubt tell you that there was a ball placed from the ground up.

There were two positions George did not shine in that of pitcher and catcher, but for fielding, batting, throwing and base running abilities he didn't have an equal on the old Bartlett team. When George Staten elected to give up baseball the game lost a man who would have shone in the [illegible] company, and today he could have [illegible] relating experiences similar to those of his more famous old captain, [illegible]. 10 YEARS WED

MR. AND MRS. GARVEY OBSERVED THE ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Garvey of [illegible] Lillow avenue observed the tenth anniversary of their marriage yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Garvey intended to have the pleasing event pass off quietly, but their friends desired otherwise. Mrs. Garvey is a native of Nashua, N. H., and yesterday a delegation came from Nashua and took possession of the house. The happy couple received many useful and costly presents, among which were a silver teapot from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Warren, a china salad dish from Miss Nellie Warren; a china chocolate pot, Mr. and Mrs. John Flan; a silver tray and brush, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran; a silver waiter, Mrs. Mulhair; a table cover, Mrs. Doyle; a nicely made box with a good sum of money in it, Mr. and Mrs. John Crouse; a second box, also filled with money, Mr. and Mrs. George Moran, and a fifty-dollar bill from Miss Jennie Moran. Mrs. Eagan, a neighbor of Mrs. Garvey, made a large wedding cake inscribed "1896-1906." The happy couple were warmly congratulated and it was the wish of all that their future life will be as happy as has been their past. The couple have six children, Margaret, May, Thomas M., Harold J., Raymond F., John H., and George H.

DOUBLE SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Lynch on Dunmer street Thursday evening. One of the surprised was Mrs. Maude Conners, who received a handsome signet ring presented on behalf of friends by Mr. Bernie McQuade. Mrs. Lynch received a beautiful picture as a mark of esteem. A musical program and general good time followed. The young people had a most enjoyable time.

The railroad officials are rivaling the insurance men at the get-rich-quick game.

If Speaker Cannon holds out against the ship subsidy looters, he deserves to be president if any republican does.

The president has won out in favor of a locks canal across the isthmus. Now will his friend Taft cut loose and make the dirt fly?

And now, alas! good old Farmer Wilson has been caught redhanded diverting appropriations by congress otherwise than intended, by building the new agricultural department building contrary to the plans adopted. His only excuse is that "they all do it."

SENATOR BAILEY.

Senator Bailey just in time has called attention to a fatal defect in the meat inspection bill. Unfortunately, President Roosevelt's enthusiasm led him to insist upon a form of inspection that could not be carried out under federal laws. To do so would be an interference with the rights of the states.

THE REPUBLICAN TELEPHONE JOB.

If the republicans of the board of aldermen insist upon granting a second telephone franchise in our public streets to be sold, transferred, or exploited in any way the petitioners may determine, let the responsibility rest with them alone. If, as would appear, the whole conspiracy is a republican job, then let it be so, and let no democrat have anything to do with it. The voters and the tax-payers of Lowell will eventually realize what party is responsible for such outrages upon the municipality.

TODAY'S PARADE.

The parade of our French American compatriots in celebration of St. John's day was in every way a credit to that section of the community. The splendid appearance of the men in line, the artistic design of the floats and the size and elaborate nature of the entire celebration is a matter for sincere congratulation to all who had any part in the arrangements. When our French citizens undertake anything of this kind they are willing to make any reasonable sacrifice in order to make the event a complete success.

The citizens of Lowell are becoming accustomed to big celebrations of various kinds and it would appear that certain societies have made up their minds that if they cannot hold a good celebration they will have none at all. That is an idea that if carried out will redound to the credit of the organizations and the nationalities appearing in line. It is a very gratifying feature of such occasions that whether they be French, Irish, Polish, Portuguese or Scandinavian they are always treated with respect by the citizens in general. That is as it should be in an American city and especially a cosmopolitan city like Lowell.

JUSTICE OF TEACHERS' CLAIMS.

We believe the justice of the claims of the Lowell teachers for an increase of salary is conceded on all sides. The only question that remains is how the money will be procured to pay them. We have suggested several methods of saving the amount necessary to grant a reasonable increase, and we believe that there are still other methods which the committee can adopt without in any way impairing the work of the schools.

It is to be hoped that the school board will see its way clear to grant a reasonable increase to the teachers of the primary and grammar grades with the opening of the next school term. The members of the school board themselves no doubt are as fully convinced as anybody of the justice of the teachers' claims to higher salary. It must not be supposed that the amount paid out to increase the salary of the teachers would be thrown away or would be barren of educational results. Only make the teachers contented with their lot, remove the causes of discontent and they will do better work. In this light, we believe, the schools will be greatly benefited by granting the increase asked by the teachers of primary and grammar grades. The higher salaries paid the elementary teachers in other cities is an allurement to the teachers of Lowell and will induce many of them to leave the city even after graduating at the training school. The school board should provide against this tendency without delay.

AN ADMIRABLE PLATFORM.

The democrats of Indiana at their late convention adopted an admirable platform, which deserves success by the support of all honest citizens. The following plank is especially worthy of careful attention by democrats and independent voters in every state as a fair statement of the conditions imposed on the people through republican legislation and as a remedy proposed when the democrats are entrusted with power. The platform said:

"For nearly ten years the republican party has been in absolute control in all departments in the national government, with power to change unjust conditions and to rectify evils. Yet during that time colossal combinations of capital have arisen to dominate the people and have stifled competition and unfairly limited the opportunity of the individual citizen. Wealth thereby illegally obtained has been unsparingly used to control legislation and corrupt elections. No honest effort has been made nor is being made by republican legislation to cure or eradicate these evils. We denounce the hypocrisy of the republican party, which, while pretending to legislate against these conditions, deals only with the symptoms and not with the disease. The unfair, tyrannical features of the so-called 'protective tariff' have made those things possible, and no permanent relief can be secured until its obnoxious features are removed. We demand that this be done by a tariff for revenue only.

"The growth of the trusts and other inordinate and dangerous combinations of capital, the tremendous and rapidly increasing absorption and centralization of the wealth of the country in the hands of a chosen few, all due to premeditated and systematic legislation in behalf of special interests by the republican party, demand a change in the policies imposed upon the country by that party and make the passage of restrictive laws an imperative necessity."

SEEN AND HEARD

A young woman went into the library a day or two ago and approaching the lady behind the counter said: "I would like to take [illegible] from the library." The attendant courteously instructed her as to how to proceed to get out a library card and [illegible]. "When you have obtained your card come back and I will attend to you."

The young woman did as directed and returning with the card said to the attendant: "Have you Freckles?"

The attendant flushed up and when she had conquered her indignation sufficiently to talk replied: "Perhaps I have some, but not so many [illegible] as [illegible] persons I have met."

"O my dear, you misunderstand me. 'Freckles' is the name of a new book just out and I would like to get it if you have it in the library."

A most interesting description of a revived [illegible] is given by Miss Allen Eaton in the Craftsman. In 1884 Miss [illegible] Twelves of Elterwater, a little town in the north of England, with the [illegible] assistance of Arthur [illegible], opened a school of spinning [illegible] for those women who [illegible] to learn a craft by which they might earn a living without leaving their own hearthstone.

[illegible] was made for a wheel. It would have been easy to find one in New England, but not so in all Westmoreland. However, the search extended to the Isle of Man, and there a wheel was discovered and a skillful carpenter made fifteen copies. In three months enough thread had been spun to make a good-sized web. And then another search was begun, this time for a loom. Half a century had gone since a hand loom had been in use in the region. Among the cobwebs of a cellar in Kendal, the detached pieces of an old worm eaten one were found and taken to Elterwater. The story of its rehabilitation reads more like legend than history. When the village carpenter, aided by the advice of Miss Twelves and the parish priest, had painfully succeeded in patching together the fragments so that every part seemed to be in its place, the loom could not be worked, something was wrong. They were in despair. Suddenly Miss Twelves bethought herself of a photograph of Giotto's reliefs illustrating the art of weaving, on the Campanile in Florence. They studied that photograph and the mystery was solved. The shuttle would fly, and Giotto, 600 years in his grave, had set to going a loom in the Highlands of Britain!

The necessary warping frame was built, a bobbin winder was made; an old man who had once woven was engaged, and in the spring of 1884 the first piece of linen was finished.

One of the quickest jobs in the history of street railways in this city has just been completed. The job in question was that of the Fletcher street line and the unusual headway made was due in a great measure to the "know how" efforts of Michael O'Donnell, the construction boss. The line from Broadway to Pawtucket street was completed in a little more than two weeks. It has been suggested that if Mr. O'Donnell ever "butted in" on the Panama canal job, he would finish the canal in jig time.

A parrot at Tray Rock, Lakeview, holds the record as a mimic. He is not a great talker but as an imitator of cracks, whistles, chirps, etc., he is the green-feathered champion.

From his perch on the wide piazza he imitates the frogs, and does it so well that visitors have been heard to say, "There's a frog on the piazza." Birds of the wildwood answer and draw near and fly away disgusted, upon learning that he who called is a stranger in captivity. Before the car conductors and motormen became acquainted with this impersonator of the feathered kingdom, they would stop a car in response to his whistle believing that some one desirous of catching the car, was whistling. So wonderful is his ability that he can imitate the hateful buzz of the mosquito. Those who he knows he calls by name and he tells strangers to "go along."

FOUR LIVES LOST

Canoe Upset and the Occupants Drowned

NEWPORT, Vt., June 25.—Through the overturning of a canoe in which they were enjoying an outing on lake Memphremagog late yesterday, four young persons were drowned. The victims were:

FRED PAQUIN, aged 25 years.
CORA PAQUIN, wife of Fred.
ETHEL PAQUIN, sister of Fred.
GEORGE DAILEY.

The young men were clerks employed in stores in Newport and were fairly well accustomed to handling a canoe. Although the canoe was in plain view of the shore and of occupants of other boats most of the time, no one seems to have actually witnessed the overturning of the craft, and the exact cause will probably remain a mystery.

When last seen the canoe was between Horseneck Island and Lindsay's beach and was going swiftly through the water, driven by the strokes of the two men who were paddling.

It was only a few minutes later that the canoe was discovered overturned close to Horseneck Island.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Police Hunted Man for a Year

PATERSON, N. J., June 25.—The police arrested here last night, on a charge of importing girls from Italy for immoral purposes, Antonio Sorianello, for whom they claim they have been searching more than a year and who they say is wanted by the authorities of New Haven, Bridgeport, Middletown and several other cities. The police charge that Sorianello has a series of houses scattered throughout the eastern states. His arest last night followed the discovery by the police of a young woman on the street in a pitiable condition. At the house where the arrest occurred another young woman was found and both were held as witnesses against the man. The girl found on the street bore evidence of having been beaten severely. She declared she had escaped from the house by dropping out of a window. In her room the police say they found a loaded cane, to which a few long hairs yet adhere, a poker with blood stains near the end, and a heavy stove lifter, all of which the girl declares were used in the assaults upon her because her week's earnings had not satisfied the man.

Sorianello is held without bail on five charges, two for assault, one for keeping a disorderly house and two for importing girls for immoral purposes.

YELLOW FEVER

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—One case of yellow fever was reported yesterday at the Mississippi river quarantine station 97 miles below New Orleans. His temperature being above normal, he was taken off the steamer and detained for observation. Last night physicians decided that the case is yellow fever. The Holstein is still detained at quarantine.

STRIKE BREAKERS

Engaged in a General Fight

LYNN, June 25.—With empty bottles flying through the air and sounds of blows coming from the direction of the barracks occupied by the strike-breakers brought to this city to fill the places of the striking machinists, the residents of Buffum street thought there was a general fight in progress yesterday morning.

Shortly before 9 one of the inmates of the barracks, said to be a guard, started an argument, which was soon participated in by all hands. The guard is reported to have been roughly treated by the strike-breakers.

The trouble lasted near half an hour, and while it was in progress bottles were thrown through a window in the kitchen. A woman who conducts a lodging house next door became so frightened that she sought protection at the home of a neighbor. She said five of her boarders left last week, two more yesterday and two this morning, all saying they could not live in a place where their lives were in danger.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL.

The class gift to the school was a cast of an equestrian statue of Paul Revere. The class also presented to the school a picture of the grand canal, Venice, in memory of Sherman Hanchett, a former member of the class.

In the upper corridor were displayed the following pictures, purchased with the proceeds of the Bicknell lecture given for the benefit of the school last April: "Oxen Ploughing," Bonheur; "Spring," Mauve; "The Fog Warning," Homer; "The Broken Pitcher," Greuze; "On the River Bank," Lerolle; "Landscape with Windmill," Ruysdael; "Capitol at Washington;" "Arch of Constantine."

BOAT OVERTURNED.

CLINTON, Mass., June 25.—After rocking a boat to scare a 12-year-old girl in a boat with two other men, Calsar Manilla tipped the craft over yesterday and was drowned. The girl was saved by Thomas Moran.

FIRED REVOLVER

People in Auto Had Narrow Escape

DARIEN, Conn., June 25.—A large touring car containing five men were fired on, it is said, by a special officer, as the car was going through Darien last night. It is claimed that the machine was going at a good speed, but not exceeding the limit, and that when the party had reached a certain spot in the road Special Officer Martin F. Oppmeir stepped forward, waved a red flag and called on the car to stop. This the driver did not do at once, but as he was preparing to slow down, it is claimed, the special officer drew a revolver and began firing at the car. The driver then put on all speed and did not stop until Norwalk was reached. There it was found that three bullets had pierced the lower part of the car and that one ball had struck the gasolene tank. The automobiles refused to give their names, but it is believed the party came from New Jersey.

BOY IS DYING

HE WAS SHOT BY A DRUNKEN MAN.

BOSTON, June 25.—A bright, enterprising Italian boy of 15, the main support of his mother, brother and six young sisters, is dying at the City hospital relief station from a revolver shot, fired into his back last evening in the North End by a drunken man, who had tried to pick a fuss with the boy and three companions.

The boy is Michele Benincasa and he lives at 161 North street. The man who shot him was captured and disarmed while he was chasing one of the injured lad's companions. He was locked up at the Hanover street station under the name of Vincenzo Capparella. He gave his age as 25, and said he lived at 270 Pearl street, Newton. The charge against him is assault with a loaded revolver with intent to kill.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Why should not the high priced car be made to measure, so to speak, is a query that will naturally suggest itself when other things upon which large sums are expended are taken into consideration, says the Motor World. Steam yachts are almost invariably built to the owner's specifications, as are houses and a host of other things that are constructed to conform to the personal taste of their purchasers. Then why should the man who pays $5000 or more for an automobile not have it built to measure, for if he is to drive it the length of his reach is of as much importance in operating the clutch and brake pedals as it is that his trousers should be the proper length. Natural limitations confine the space to be devoted to the various pedals, levers and steering wheel to a small area; but, like the inch on the end of a man's nose, it is likewise a place where a very little difference is strikingly apparent. The manufacturer has perforce had to strike an average, and it is evident that this will be equally uncomfortable for the man who is unusually short or unusually tall. In other cases the placing of the means or operation has had to conform itself to the remainder of the design of the car and is cramped at the best. Individual taste is always consulted in the matter of finishing the body and fittings of such cars, so there seems to be no good reason why the man who is buying such a vehicle and intends to drive it should not be fitted. A difference of an inch or two in the height or placing of the driving seat or of the pedals and levers with reference to it make for comfort on the long run. In a case where the amount of fitting necessary would be out of the usual it seems it would also be necessary to hire a chauffeur to fit the car. The question may appear purely academic and needless, but as the bodies of high priced cars are almost invariably built to order it would be easy enough to make them to measure at the same time.

It developed yesterday that two Maxwell cars are under construction for the American team in the Vanderbilt cup race next October. One of these cars will be something of a revolution in that it will be driven by a twelve cylinder engine, made up of six sets of horizontal opposed cylinders. It will have two speeds, forward and a reverse, with a direct drive. It will be geared to travel thirty-five miles an hour on the low speed and at 1200 revolutions a minute will be geared for 120 miles an hour on the high speed. It will have approximately double the cylinder capacity of the Darracq racer with which Demogeot won the two miles a minute race at Ormond Beach in Florida last winter. The other racer will have an eight cylinder engine, made by coupling two regular four cylinder motors together, each motor developing 36 horse-power. This car will be geared to do seventy miles an hour easily. Whichever one of the cars that makes the best showing when they are tried out will be driven by a well known amateur automobilist whose name will not be made public for some time.

Charles J. Glidden of Lowell, the globe girdling automobile tourist who donated the touring trophy bearing his name to the American Automobile association, is expected to arrive in this city July 1. He has written from the Grand Hotel at Yokohama, Japan, that the steamer upon which he was travelling was quarantined at Yokohama for ten days on account of a case of plague on board, consequently he will not be here this week as he intended. He states that he has travelled 1122 miles over Japanese roads, but found them disappointing, as they are too narrow and their surfaces are not adapted for automobiles having been built for jinrikisha men and not motor cars. Mr. Glidden has entered the third annual tour of the American Automobile Association, and will join the party at Buffalo and travel to Bretton Woods, accompanying the contestants for the second annual competition for the trophy he donated.

Webb Jay, who made a mile in 48 4-5 seconds last Fourth of July at the Morris Park track in his White steam racer, has entered the third annual tour of the American Automobile Association, and No. 19 has been assigned to him. He enters as a member of the Chicago Automobile Club, and will drive his own 18 horsepower White touring car from Buffalo to Bretton Woods in competition for the Glidden trophy. There will be four in his party. Entry No. 20 came from Elbert Milton Wiley of the New York Yacht Club, whose 24-30 Clement Bayard will be driven from Buffalo to Bretton Woods by his chauffeur, John O. Hefbauer. Mr. Wiley enters as a member of the A. A. A. and his car, will compete for the Glidden trophy, carrying five passengers. Mr. Wiley's entry is the first imported car to be named as a contestant for the Glidden trophy, as Mr. Glidden's Napier will not be a contestant.

GLIDDEN ARRIVES

Lowell Man at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 25.—Steamship Siberia arrived today from Hongkong and Japanese ports 16 days from Yokohama, after a pleasant voyage except the last 26 hours, which was rough. The steamship, with passengers was detained at quarantine at Yokohama 10 days on account of a case of the plague among the crew.

The passengers from India report the plague epidemic with 16,000 deaths weekly, and the same condition prevails to a considerable extent at a number of Asiatic ports.

Among the passengers were Sir Ernest Satow, eight years British minister to China; Hon. Huntington Wilson, charge d'affaires at Tokio, who is en route to Washington, to become third assistant secretary of state; G. Lynch, war correspondent of the London Chronicle, who was with the second Japanese army; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown of Lowell, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Glidden of Boston, who have been making an auto tour of the world.

Mr. Glidden was amazed at the damage done by earthquake and fire here, and said last night that all of the world's ruins did not equal San Francisco's.

FOREIGN COMMERCE

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OUR TRADE.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Analysis of the foreign commerce of the United States recently presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, have included discussions of trade relations with each of the principal countries, and an analyses of these analyses presents some interesting general facts about our trade relations with each of the great divisions of the world, whether geographic or climatic. This final analysis shows that in the fiscal year 1905 1-4 per cent of the imports into the United States was drawn from Europe, 2-3 per cent. from North America, 125 per cent. from South America, 115 per cent. from Asia, 2.3 per cent. from Oceania, and 1 per cent. from Africa. Of the exports from the United States in the same year, 65.2 per cent. went to Europe, 22.1 per cent. to North America, 5 per cent. to South America, 5 per cent. to Asia, 2.7 per cent. to Oceania, and 1.2 per cent. to Africa.

[illegible] with the states of [illegible] decline [illegible] of our imports supplied by Europe [illegible] the share which Europe takes of our exports. In 1875 Europe supplied 51 per cent. of our total imports [illegible] downward [illegible] exports [illegible] downward [illegible] 84 to 67 per cent. in [illegible] percentage [illegible] the trade of the United States [illegible] with the orient. The [illegible] forced but a per cent [illegible] per cent in 1875 and the exports to Asia, which amounted to but 2 per cent of the total in 1880 [illegible] in 1905 were 8½ per cent.

Comparing the values of imports from the grand divisions in 1905 with those of a decade earlier, it may be said that imports from Europe have grown from 383 millions of dollars in 1895, and will likely exceed 600 millions in the fiscal year. The imports from No. America have grown from 91 millions in 1895 to 225 millions in 1905, and in 1906 will slightly exceed those of 1905. From South America the imports have grown from 112 millions in 1895 to 151 million in 1905; but in 1906 will fall about 11 millions below those of 1905, chiefly on account of a reduction in the quantity of coffee and India rubber imported. From Asia the imports have grown from 75 millions in 1895 to 162 millions in 1905, and will aggregate about 175 millions in 1906. From Oceania the imports of 1895 were 17½ million dollars and in 1905 were 25 millions; the figures of 1895, however, do not include merchandise from the Hawaiian islands, amounting to 75 million dollars, while the figures of 1905 include merchandise imported from the Hawaiian Islands the growth in imports from Oceania having been more rapid proportionately than from any other section of the world. From Africa imports have grown from 7 millions in 1895 to a little over 11 millions in 1905.

On the export side the total to Europe has grown from 628 millions in 1895 to 1,021 millions in 1905 and seems likely to be nearly or quite 1,200 millions in 1906, or an average of 100 millions a month, since the figures of ten months indicate an average of about 101 millions. To North America the exports have grown from 105½ million dollars in 1895 to 2031/3 millions in 1905 and seem likely to aggregate about 270 millions in the fiscal year 1906. To South America the exports have grown from 33½ millions in 1895 to 57 millions in 1905, and seem likely to be about 70 millions in 1906. To Asia the exports have grown from 17 1-3 millions in 1895 to 128½ millions in 1905, but for 1906 will fall slightly below the figures of 1905 by reason of the abnormally large exports to China in that year. To Oceania the exports of 1895 were 13 millions and in 1905 32 millions, and this latter figure does not include the 12 million dollars' worth of merchandise sent to Hawaii in 1905, though the figures of 1895 include the exports thereto. To Africa the exports in 1895 were 7 million dollars and in 1905 18½ millions.

Thus it appears that imports from Europe increased a little more than one-half in the period from 1895 to 1905; from North America nearly doubled; from South America showed but slight increase; from Asia practically doubled; from Oceania, including Hawaii, trebled, and from Africa increased about one-half. On the other hand, exports to Europe nearly doubled in the period from 1895 to 1906; to North America nearly trebled; to South America more than doubled; to Oceania more than trebled, if we include the trade with Hawaii; to Africa more than doubled, and to Asia in 1905 were seven times as great as in 1895.

Manufactures supply the largest part of the imports from Europe, and agricultural products, copper, mineral oil, leather and iron and steel supply the largest part of the exports thereto. The bulk of the North American imports are sugar from Cuba; coffee, sisal, fruits, copper and lead from Mexico, Central America, and the West Indian Islands; timber, lumber, fish, and nickel ore from Canada; the exports to North American countries are chiefly manufactures, also meats, flour, and other food stuffs to those at the south. From South America the imports consist chiefly of coffee, india rubber, wool, hides and skins, while the exports thereto consist chiefly of manufactures and certain lines of food stuffs. From Asia the imports consist chiefly of tea, coffee, raw silk, fibers, wool, pig tin and wrapper tobacco, and the exports to Asia consist largely of cotton cloths, mineral oil, copper, and miscellaneous manufactures. From Oceania the imports are are chiefly tropical and subtropical ports thereto chiefly manufactures and food stuffs. From Africa the imports are chiefly tropical and subtropical products and the exports thereto chiefly manufactures.

Of manufactures, the exports to, the fiscal year 1906 will be about 601 million dollars, of which about 250 millions go to Europe, the large proportion of the manufactures sent being copper, mineral oils, manufactures of iron and steel, boots and shoes, and scientific instruments. Exports of manufactures from the U. S. have grown from 183½ millions in 1895 to about 600 millions in 1906, and the share which manufactures form of the exports, from 18 per cent. in 1890 and 23 per cent. in 1895 to about 34 per cent. in 1906.

The sections in which the exports of the United States make least progress are within the tropics. The countries having a tropical or subtropical climate imported in the latest available year about 1,700 million dollars' worth of merchandise and took but 260 millions of that amount from the United States, as against 470 millions from the United Kingdom, the world's great exporter of manufactures. Tropical America imported 460 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied 151 millions, or 33 per cent. Tropical Asia imported about 800 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied but 20 millions, or 2½ per cent. Tropical Africa and Oceania imported 400 million dollars' worth of merchandise, and of this the United States supplied but 30 millions, or 7½ per cent. Of the imports of the entire tropical world the United States supplied 12 per cent. and the United Kingdom over 28 per cent.

THE EVIDENCE IS BEFORE YOU—WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH IT

An Open Letter From Dr. Temple

During the past 15 years I have enjoyed exceptional advantages in nearly every clime in the study and observation of Chronic Diseases and have embraced my opportunities to thoroughly test my method of treatment, the combination of vegetable agents (roots, herbs, barks, etc.) which in clinical value and effect in the indicated range of use has no equal in my way of thinking, as in everything results count.

I have never asked a skeptical and criticising public to believe what appears to be unreasonable claims nor do I make any claims but what have been verified by living testimonials.

That by my advanced method of treatment cures have been made right here in Lowell which have baffled the skill of other practitioners.

The treatment has been put to severe tests because all patients coming to me, never come till they have exhausted all other resources. I know now after years of experience that I could save many a man or woman years of suffering and hundreds of dollars, if they would but consult me in the beginning.

What has cured others will cure you, because you are of the same physical construction, subject to the same laws of nature and suffering from the same causes as others. I want all those who are sick and suffering to throw aside all prejudice simply because I advertise in the columns of this paper, and look the thing square in the face.

It is all right to listen to the advice of friends and doctors who are always willing to give advice and nothing else, but when they fail to give you relief and you have to live on condolences then it is time you investigate something new.

To those who are interested let me say investigate, prove to your own satisfaction. I have testimonials of Lowell's representative people who will allow me to use their names if I am so disposed to have them inserted here in this open letter. They are by word of mouth sending to me their friends, which to me is worth columns of paid advertisements.

It is often asked, do you cure every patient that takes treatment or is everybody curable. In answer to this question. Many people who have suffered for years come to me for advice and treatment who only take a week or two treatment and expect me, with my treatment, to do more for them than nature herself can do in the same length of time. Disease becomes incurable only by neglect or improper treatment and if patients would doctor one-third of the length of the time they have been afflicted nearly every case could be cured.

F. S. TEMPLE, M. D., Specialist.

Americans Attacked by Chinese Robbers

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Dr. A. Dr. Beattie's residence [illegible] of the city. Attached [illegible] less than 100 yards [illegible] the United States [illegible] Patrolling the [illegible] police [illegible] the house. One night [illegible] wife and children were [illegible] aroused to find the house [illegible] of 20 robbers. Every [illegible] the family was gagged and [illegible] bed post. The brigands then stripped the house of everything of value. Despite the fact that a United States warship was lying so close to the house and the police patrols were passing at frequent intervals the robbers escaped with their loot. The Chinese government promised reparation, but up to the time he left Canton, Dr. Beattie had received nothing but apologies.

Eloquent Plea by Rev. Louis S. Walsh

Graduating Class of St. Michael's School Received Diplomas in St. Michael's Church Last Night —Solemn Vespers Celebrated Followed by Solemn Benediction —Diplomas Presented by Rev. John J. Shaw

A departure from the usual commencement exercises was made at St. Michael's school this year and instead of the program given by the pupils in former years there was a church service held in St. Michael's church last evening with a sermon by Rev. Louis S. Walsh, director of parochial schools in the archdiocese of Boston. A large congregation was present in the church when the priests and altar boys marched from the vestry to the sanctuary. Solemn high vespers were sung, the celebrant being Rev. John J. Shaw, Rev. E. A. Carney, deacon, Rev. Francis J. Mullin, S. T. L., sub-deacon, and Rev. Denis Murphy, master of ceremonies. The choir, directed by Mr. James A. Murphy, sang Este vespers and the Veni Creator was rendered by Mr. Murphy. The sermon delivered by Rev. Fr. Walsh dwelt mainly with religion in the school and the preacher showed a most intimate knowledge of educational matters and the work of the schools in this section of the country.

Prior to delivering the sermon Rev. Fr. Walsh took occasion to congratulate Rev. Fr. Shaw, the priests of the parish and the sisters in charge of the school on the excellent standing attained by St. Michael's school and he said he is also gratified at the great interest shown in the school by the people of the parish.

Rev. Fr. Walsh took as his text: "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul," Matthew xvi, 26.

He said in part:

"God made man to know him, to love him, to serve him in this world, and to be happy with him forever in the next.

"This great text from the Holy Gospel, and simple catechetical answer to why man was created, must ever be the cornerstone of every Christian life that is to withstand the storms of this world and persevere unto the end to fill its divine destiny. It is well to recall them frequently. It is well to place them clearly before our minds in fixing the aims of life.

"The church is like an experienced guide in a perilous country. She knows the mental and moral worlds most thoroughly, the mental and moral geography. She has nurtured monarchies, empires and republics, all equally great yet doomed to perish; she has educated races innumerable from barbarism to a proud, glorious civilization, reaching the highest summits of mental power, moral virtue and devoted family or social ideals, and she has seen many rise and some fall. Is it not folly to forego, to cast away, aye to rebuke such a guide?

"She speaks to our noble republic, that she loves so well; warns the great American people of their awful error, and bids her beware of the certain wreck and ruin that must come from her refusal to admit God and our Lord within the school rooms of her rising generations.

"Even if her gentle voice and sympathetic hand were not raised in warning, the result of the non-religious (sometimes called non-sectarian) system of elementary education has been tried and measured and weighed, and, I say it openly, has been found wanting.

STRIDES TOWARD PAGANISM.

"It was conceived and brought forth and nurtured into mature life in our own state of Massachusetts, and has been adopted more or less in every state of the union, for there is no national system of education, and each state is free to make its own.

"Massachusetts was founded by men who believed in religious and moral training as the corner-stone, the golden inscription over the doorway and the invigorating spirit of all education from the cradle to the university. For 200 years no one dared to even dream of any other as possible or fitting. The Puritan and Pilgrim deserve credit for giving to our noble state such a foundation, but they were not the originators of the idea, for it was one of the many fine ideals that they brought over from old Catholic England, hence it was and is a Catholic idea.

"The non-religious, or so-called, but misnamed, non-sectarian, system was adopted about 70 years ago. Two or more generations have been educated under it, and with what results?

"If we put the Catholics apart in a group by themselves, the people, men especially, of the state and country are no longer a church-going people, more than one-half of the children never go to church or Sunday school, unless there be a minstrel show or candy distribution; the disintegration of the home is going on rapidly, because God is not consulted or present at the marriage; God's laws are ignored or spurned in those obligations of married people to create and build up a home; divorce scandals are so numerous as hardly to excite passing comment, except for sensational details. Where and when do legislators now consult the rights of God and of religion, in making the capital laws of the land, unless the vision of adverse votes of constituents stirs their selfish interests? Is the Christian idea of Sunday not fast disappearing from the minds of people who worship the newspapers, or some pleasure resort?

"Two more generations of such education and this land will have made long strides towards pagan and irreligious ideas, for it will have developed an individual conscience without God, homes without God, hence very soon a civilization without God, which means paganism for the rich and socialism for the poor, with a war of extermination between both.

CHURCH HOLDS TO IDEALS.

"But no, I am mistaken, there is good reason to believe that such will not be the case, and herein we will see a third reason why this schoolhouse and others like it all over the state must be maintained. It will be a silent, yet most active, eloquent fact and argument to our fellow citizens and state, whose watchwords are justice and truth, and upon whose shield we wish to see forever those imperishable words.

"The Catholic church, by holding fast to its ideal, ever old and always true, will teach our state, perhaps several, to do justice to religion in elementary education, as it has so nobly done for the branches of secular science, arts, industries and social betterment. No one, with any sense of justice or reason can fail to admire the magnificent devotion to education, manifest in Massachusetts, but that very devotion only makes the injustice more striking and to be regretted.

"A law compelling every child to be educated so as to be able to earn a living and fulfill the duties of citizenship is on the statute book, and that, if applied reasonably, is right, for the parent refusing to give the child such a birthright, deserves the coercion of the law. On the other hand the state establishes a system of education, that violates, at the present hour, the rights of conscience of $1,500,000 of the people, gets up a gigantic monopoly for developing the child mind and heart without God, without regard to the parent's religious convictions, without any Christian moral training, worthy of the name, and then blandly says to those citizens and parents, take this or nothing from our hands.

"There is, there can be no more righteous even if unpopular, cause than the idea of religious education, and some here present will live to share in its triumph by a state law or by local option."

At the conclusion of the sermon Rev. Fr. Shaw attended by the other clergymen, walked to the center of the sanctuary and addressing the congregation said that thirteen of the pupils had completed the required course of studies in the parish school and had won graduation honors. He called the names of the seven girls and six boys and to each handed a diploma. The graduates are: Mary Josephine Sorenson, Margaret Mary Martin, Margaret Beatrice Gilligan, Mary Aloysius Cawley, Mary Elizabeth Kilroy, Lillian Anastasia O'Connor, Annie Cahill, Leo Joseph Sherlock, Edward Michael Ryan, John Joseph Smith William Basil Raney, Martin Stanislaus Cordingly, Edward Patrick Farrell.

Mr. Thomas R. Boulger then sang Dudley Buck's "Salve Regina," a fine baritone solo to which Mr Boulger did full justice. Solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given during which Guilmant's "Ave Verum" for soprano and contralto was given by Mrs. James A. Murphy and Miss Nano Gallagher, both of whom were in beautiful voice and sang with great feeling and effect.

The "Tantum Ergo" was sung by the chorus and the service closed with the singing of the hymn, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Yesterday afternoon hundreds of persons inspected the display of the work of the pupils of the school. The exhibit was held in the school hall and in several of the school rooms. There were shown penmanship, drawing, sewing, pasting and basket work and the display was most creditable and showed the careful training received by the young people.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

At St. Patrick's church, yesterday, Rev. John J. McHugh in asking the parishioners to patronize the lawn party of the Ladies' Aid society of the parish which will be held at the residence of John F. Saunders, in Fletcher street near Pawtucket, gave a review of some of the work of this society which made a deep impression and undoubtedly will result in a large sale of tickets. Fr. McHugh said in the course of his remarks: "The Ladies' Aid society of this parish is an organization of the women of the parish who mindful of the scriptural injunctions: 'The poor ye have always with ye,' and 'Feed my lambs' have come together for the purpose of assisting the poor and needy of this parish. They have gone about in an untiring yet unostentatious manner visiting the homes and bringing food, clothing, medical attendance and comfort generally. In every corner of our parish the poor are to be found and there are many, too many, on the public pauper list of our city. It is the duty of the parish to see to it that as few of our members as possible are on the city's pauper list, for what is the parish after all but one great family. Even the city cannot support some of these families. They give $3 orders but every housekeeper knows how far a $3 order of fuel and provisions will go for instance in a family consisting of a mother and six small children, one of the cases now being aided by the society. At first communion today many of the children who received the sacrament were clothed for the occasion from head to foot by the ladies of the society. Another particularly sad case is that of a destitute deaf and dumb boy. During the school season he has been away at school where his tuition was paid by the society. Now school is closed and the boy was obliged to return to Lowell, homeless and penniless. The Ladies' Aid society has stepped in and is paying the boy's board at a good home until such time as he shall return to school. These are but a few of the many cases that are being cared for by this grand society, and when winter comes on the number will increase. To continue this noble work funds are absolutely necessary and for that reason this lawn party is being helped. If every one in St. Patrick's parish will only help just a little the aggregate will be most encouraging, and your charity will not go unnoticed by Him who marketh the sparrow's fall."

The sacrament of confirmation will be administered by Archbishop O'Connell at St. Patrick's church, this evening, and the graduating exercises at Notre Dame Academy will take place tomorrow morning with the archbishop as the guest of honor.

GIGANTIC PLAN

Standard Oil to Increase Stock

NEW YORK, June 25.—For several days there have been running through Wall street rumors of great changes soon to come in the organization of the Standard Oil company. Gradually these rumors have taken definite form, until they purport to give in detail a plan already decided upon for a vast readjustment of the company's financial structure, involving the issue of hundreds of millions of dollars in stock beyond the present $100,000,000 and the complete abandonment of the secrecy regarding earnings, expenses and other matters which has for so long been the company's avowed policy.

Rumors of this kind regarding Standard Oil are the more readily believed in the street because it is taken for granted that the company's intentions will be learned with certainty only when the thing being already practically accomplished, an official statement issues from 26 Broadway, and in this case the information purported to have come from very close to the inner circles and events at Washington seemed to make it quite probable.

Briefly told, the Standard's new plan of reform, as Wall street heard it, called for an immediate increase in the capital stock from $100,000,000 to $600,000,000, the listing of its shares on the stock exchange, and the publication of regular financial statements regarding its condition, such as are required by the stock exchange from all corporations whose shares are in its lists, and such as are freely issued by other great corporations, including the United States Steel corporation.

Of the proposed increase in capital, $350,000,000, equalling a stock dividend of 350 per cent., was said to be planned for issuance to present stockholders, while the remaining $150,000,000 was to be placed in the company's treasury, to be issued from time to time in payment for independent refining properties or oil lands.

STURGIS BILL

CAUSED AN EXPENSE OF $19,613.80.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 25—Announcement was made at the executive department at the state house today that the total expense to date of the enforcement commission, created by the last legislature under the Sturgis bill to see that the prohibitory liquor law was enforced and appointed April 6, 1905, was $19,613.80. This amount includes salaries and expenses of the three commissioners, Waldo Pettengill of Rumford Falls, Norman L. Bassett of Augusta, and Alfred H. Lang of Skowhegan, and the salaries and expenses of the deputies. The state has received from fines and fees, the sum of $2,775.94, leaving a balance of $16,614.80. The appropriation was $7,500 per annum. There are now 21 enforcement commissioners working in five counties, Androscoggin, Kennebec, Knox, Sagahoc and Oxford.

IT'S 110 YEARS OLD

Notable Anniversary of the Pawtucket Church

Knights of Malta at St. Paul's Church—Sermon on Knighthood of Today

The 110th anniversary of the founding of the Pawtucket Congregational church was observed yesterday. The pastor Rev E. R. Smith, preached a special sermon having for his topic, "Four New England Meeting Houses—What They Signify." At the close of the sermon, which was of a historical nature, pledge cards were distributed and nearly $600 were raised by pledges and cash contributions, exclusive of the contents of the weekly envelopes.

The floral decorations were pink mountain laurel. A chorus of 32 voices under the leadership of Mr. Warren C. Hamblett, Charles H. Hartley, organist, gave excellent renditions of "The Heavens Are Telling" (Haydon), the solo work being well executed by Mrs. W. R. Park. The second choir number was "Jerusalem, My Happy Home" (Lowell Mason.) An orchestra assisted in the music.

Rev. E. R. Smith said in part:

There is virtue in the exercise of memory. We therefore today recall the years long past when our fathers in the faith erected their places of worship in this locality. This special time is chosen to celebrate these four New England meeting houses because, in all probability it is 110 years ago this present year since a church was first established on this spot.

This history of ours begins in connection with the old town of Dracut, settled in 1655 by Samuel Varnum. King Philip's war was then on and this first of the Varnums lost two sons killed by Indians, as they crossed the river from Middlesex Village.

Ten years after its incorporation in 1701, the town of Dracut began to plan for a meeting house. A committee was appointed and a place was selected. This place was "the west end of Flag Meadow Hill," so-called, which is the hill on which the Lowell General hospital stands. Observe the rate of wages prescribed. A man and two yoke of oxen was to have 5s per day. Men who got out timber received 2s. The meeting house was to be 25x30 feet.

In 1715, is the date of the building of this first house; it was dedicated a year later and finished in 1718, which shows the lack of money, push or unity of sentiment.

Meanwhile pending the actual commencement of the work, the town changed its mind on the site, and the location was south of Flag Meadow hill. Probably this was about opposite the lower entrance to the hospital. Some time a tablet ought to be placed there. The Dracut churches and our own might fittingly co-operate in this.

We are interested to read the vote providing for the raising of the house. "It is granted that one barrel hard cider and such a quantity of rum as the trustees shall think needful for the raising of said meeting house."

The Sabbath Day house deserves our notice. It arose from the need of some place where before church and at noon the people might warm themselves. It was a thawing out place. This church had a Sabbath Day or noon house. It probably stood some few rods above the meeting-house on what is now Varnum avenue. In Lexington, we read there was no need of a noon house, for the women and children ate their lunch in tavern parlors, while the men drank flip in the tap-room. Sunday closing was not known in those "good old days," and no police board was needed to inspect the facilities for providing meals with drinks."

The preacher made a long historical review of the church's life and coming down to the present, said:

"The new social conditions demand that the churches cultivate the life of fraternalism. When such great work is to be done for the multitudes in this new age, there is no time to waste in divisions among ourselves.

"This church of ours symbolizes in its architecture the new spirit. The auditorium is but one of the many rooms. There is the provision for religious instruction. There is opportunity for social intercourse. There are possibilities in the adaptation of this building to yet more varied forms of service for this community. There is also that in our location which suggests other thoughts. To the east of us is a splendid textile school. West of us on the very hill which once looked down upon that little first church stands a noble hospital. In these two directions is modern emphasis being laid—on training for efficiency on philanthropy. This church is midway between, symbolizing the truth that efficiency in doing the world's work and philanthropy alike need the spirit of religion. Unless the efficient man be a man of faith, his efficiency may lead to an abuse of power. Unless philanthropy be grounded in religion, it has no deep, permanent foundation.

"A wonderful live for humanity pervades the hospital; a wonderful devotion to truth, the school. As a church, we must foster the love of God because it gives the only assurance of abiding love for men. As a church, we must give truth-lovers in the school reason to believe that we welcome truth in religion. We are to inspire men to consecrate their powers to the service of men.

"Here is the mission and meaning of the modern church service-inspiration. If we believe it and are true to this mission, the centuries to come shall look down upon yet nobler churches, the successors of these four in which we have endeavored to bear witness to the kingdom of God."

KNIGHTHOOD OF TODAY.

The members of Lowell Commandery, Knights of Malta, in observance of St. John's day, attended the evening services at St. Paul's M. E. church, yesterday. The members assembled at Odd Fellows' Temple and marched in a body to the church.

Rev. George B. Dean preached a sermon upon "The Knighthood of Today." There was special music by the choir.

The preacher said he was impressed with the religious spirit that pervades the order of Knights of Malta, and in closing, said:

"May God bless your order still more abundantly in the future, and may its history yet to be written, be even more splendid than any that gifted historian or inspired seer has yet recorded. "In Hoc Signo Vinces"—never lower that standard, never carry back these colors, but with them ever in the foreground continue to wage warfare upon sin and selfishness, infidelity and religious intolerance, till the world is redeemed and your order be victorious; till the hospitalers of St. John shall all dwell in that land pictured for us by the Apostle himself, where hospitals are unknown; till you shall reach that Holy City where no infidel ever goes and can never harrass the pilgrim who seeks its shrines; till you enter that New Jerusalem which the earthly Jerusalem only prefigures; till your chivalry, fraternity and religion shall be swallowed up in everlasting life, and your deeds done of the body shall be rewarded with eternal glory.

UNIONS PRODUCTS

To be Shown at the Exposition

CHICAGO, June 25.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, sent representatives to Chicago yesterday to arrange for a union exposition. The object of the fair is to celebrate the achievements of organized labor throughout the world and especially in the United States.

Minneapolis tentatively has been selected as the place for holding this novel exposition and it is probable it will take place next November at the same time the convention of the national labor body is in progress in that city.

Max Morris, fourth vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, who is in charge of the preliminary plans, explained that the exploitation of union labor never has been attempted on such a scale as President Gompers has in mind. The aim of Mr. Gompers, he said, is to bring together the products of union workmen in every branch of industry, to illustrate the superiority which is claimed for this class of goods, and also to demonstrate the growth of the union labor movement in the United States since its inception 60 years ago.

Some idea of the character of the projected exposition may be gained by the announcement that two million men, comprising the total membership of the American Federation of Labor, was expected to contribute to its success. Other countries also will be represented. There will be exhibits representing all of the industries in which union labor is interested.
